World Smoking Conference

Despite the hullabaloo that followed issuance of the surgeon general's report on smoking and health two or three years ago, there are few indications that people are worried enough about the hazard to curb the habit. Campaigns against cigaret smoking have been launched by various non-governmental groups; Congress has taken the small and hesitant step of requiring that each cigaret package carry a mild health warning. But Americans are puffing as much as they ever did.

Concern among health authorities has not diminished, however. It has grown, nurtured by further evidence indicating a connection between smoking and the incidence of cancer, circulatory troubles and other diseases. Nor is this concern limited to health officials in the United States; those of many other countries share this feeling, and in some cases have been able to do considerably more about the matter.

A Year Of Medicare

Come the end of June, Medicare will have been in operation for a year. The question is whether this program to ease older citizens' financial burden for medical and hospital care is a success. The answer, by and large, is a resounding "yes."

This is not to say that Medicare has operated flawlessly. There have been variations in its effectiveness, for one reason or another. There are still problems, as for example the refusal of some physicians to give up direct billings of patients. On the whole, however, the medical profession has cooperated and abstained from the sort of obstructionism that was widely predicted a year ago. Nor have the nation's hospital and medical facilities been disrupted as many seemed to fear.

About four million Americans have directly benefited by Medicare in its first year. Just over three billion dollars has been paid out, including about $2.4 billion for hospital care and services and 640 million for doctor bills and other medical service not directly related to hospital care. That is a lot of money, but it must be measured against the good it has done.

Social Security Commissioner Robert M. Ball put it this way: "It is hard to measure the great improvement in the quality of life for an older person brought about by the removal of a hernia, or other surgery or corrective therapy, but it is there, and in substantial amount, and attributable to Medicare." The American people have further implemented their compassionate concern for all whose age and physical condition place them in need of help. Now such help is extended as a right, without the onus of charity. As a people, we have reason to feel pride in this first anniversary of the Medicare program.

Social Notes Hold Clues To The Momentous Events

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Men here who want all the inside dope on what really is going on in the world are avid readers of the women's pages of Washington metropolitan and suburban newspapers.

Covering society beats and women's news, gal writers come up with some pretty pertinent items in powder rooms and over tea.

"Once you get through the haute couture and recipes," one up-to-date Washington male remarked, "no telling what you'll find."

An example might go thusly, the man says:

"The Soviet ambassador's wife, surprisingly chic in pink and pearl, was there telling guests about a new fish recipe popular now among Moscow housewives. She and the ambassador, who whispered to guests his country is shipping missiles back to Cuba, have just returned to Washington from two weeks in Moscow."

Liberal and moderate Republicans on Capitol Hill got a not-so-hearty chuckle out of a recent mailing from the United Republicans of America.

The URA sent out a "Republican Presidential Preference Ballot," along with a plea for campaign donations.

The ballot read, "My choice for the Republican 1968 presidential nominee (check one)," listing Mark Hatfield, Claude Kirk, John Lindsay, Richard Nixon, Charles Percy, Ronald Reagan, James Rhodes, Nelson Rockefeller, George Romney, Strom Thurmond and John Tower.

GOP liberals and moderates weren't chuckling at some of the names on the list, but at the wording of the donation pledge at the bottom of the ballot:

"Gentlemen — I realize how important early money is to a successful political campaign. I'm enclosing my contribution to help URA elect a conservative Republican in each marginal district now held by a liberal congressman."

Every week Democratic and Republican publications here publish the latest and best barbs aimed at the other party.

It is a game of one-upmanship, it seems, in which any officeholder or aide thereof on the other team is considered fair target. And no literary weapon is withheld — everything from wisecracking to name-calling.

For example, this appeared in the Congressional Chaff section of the "Republican Congressional Committee Newsletter" last week: "LBJ calls anyone opposing his Great Society a 'wrecker.' How do you wreck a ruin?"

"The Democrat," in the magazine's notes and quotes column, gave it the subtle in-case-you-haven't-heard-now-look-what-those-creeps-are-doing department:

"George Romney is reported to be the leading contender for the Republican presidential nomination."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The forests of Guyana, the newly independent country in South America, contain some of the fiercest animals in the world. The pingo, a savage pig, often travels in packs of up to 200 and is not above attacking hunters, say The World Almanac. A school of piranha fish could reduce a cow to a skeleton in minutes.

Soviet Shuns Nuclear War Confrontation At All Costs

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Argument that President Johnson's conduct of the Vietnam war is leading toward a "nuclear holocaust" seems unlikely hereafter to enjoy much credibility.

Our wish to avoid this horror is obvious enough.

A really stunning consequence of the Middle East war was the demonstration, for the second time in less than five years, that the Soviet Union is at least as eager as we to avoid confrontation.

As with the Cuban missile crisis in 1962, the Kremlin showed unmistakably this time that it does not want the big war, that it will not take grave risk of getting into it, that it will talk directly and bluntly to this country to drive this home and will suffer loss of face, humiliation and widely appreciated real reverses to avoid it.

It is accepted here that the "pull-back" decisions made by Soviet leaders during the critical week of the Middle East war were the hardest they have had to make since Cuba.

Nor is it possible to overstate the importance of the fact that they got on the "hot line" direct teletype to the President at the very outset of the fighting — anxious that their real intentions not be misunderstood for one minute.

Next to the lightning military triumph of Israel, that use of direct White House - Kremlin contact was probably the most dramatic and significant event of the week.

Its evident lesson is a big one: Barring accident or gross misunderstanding, both of which seem much less probable in the light of the hot line's quick use, the two great powers are not going to collide in a blinding nuclear flash — not over Cuban missiles over Israel and Egypt, over Vietnam or anything else.

When Soviet Premier Kosygin's operative rattled that teletype machine in Washington with his first critical message on June 5, he offered powerful counterevidence to those who have been contending — with somewhat mystical authority — that nuclear destruction is the menacing consequence of nearly every move we make in Vietnam.

Nor can it really be argued that embattled Red China will bring down the nuclear ruin the great powers seek to avoid. Peking is still a nuclear novice. Moreover, its deeds in the world arena are almost always far more cautious than its words.

Even if Peking ventured into the Vietnam war on the ground, there is no indication either we or the Russians would allow that action to push us toward final confrontation. Today more than ever, the reverse prospect seems the real one.

Kosygin at the teletype was the real thing. His U.N. agent, Nikolai Fedorenko, looks now like a bulky figure trying to hide from world view the fact that his boss was on the line, making an embarrassing call. Yet Fedorenko's posturings were something less than totally distracting.

It would be unwise, however, to dismiss him merely as an ineffective screen. For if he is part faker, he is also part real.

He represents the other face of Soviet policy.

That is the policy of Russia the mischief-maker, the exploiter of trouble and weakness and lack of vigilance among peoples everywhere. That policy helped produce the Middle East war, as it has generated or encouraged other conflicts since World War II.

Russia may not have done with this policy in Vietnam, as supplier to Ho Chi Minh, until either he is more clearly the loser or the peril of its adventure increases. For Moscow tends to play the game until it is either quite unproductive of gain or unbearably threatening to the security of the Soviet Union.

Ann Landers:

Proud of Heritage

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: You recently printed a letter from a 15-year-old girl whose foreign-born parents refused to speak English.

My parents came to this country from Latvia. They spoke Latvian all the time. When I started school I couldn't speak one word of English. I attended Latvian church, joined a Latvian Girl Scout Troop, took piano lessons from a Latvian teacher and pretty soon I got to hate everything Latvian because it was forced on me.

When I was 14 my folks sent me (screaming) to a Latvian camp in Michigan. There I met a Latvian boy who changed my thinking. He helped me understand that my parents were trying to preserve their culture, and that the only way to do it was through their children.

I met several other kids who were proud to be Latvians. (I had always been ashamed.)

Now I know I want to marry a Latvian boy (I don't know who yet) and pass on this wonderful heritage to my children. — PROUD NOW

Dear Proud: Some members of minority groups wish they could be something else. It takes a smart cookie to be proud of her heritage. I salute you.

Dear Ann Landers: Nice weather is here — and with it the eternal affliction, Guests. I sometimes wish we didn't have such a comfortable and attractive summer home because uninvited friends and relatives think we are running a hotel. I am just now recuperating from my third batch of visitors and most of the summer is ahead.

I am going through the menopause but I manage to hold down a full-time job as well as keep the house going. All winter I look forward to casual outdoor living during the summer months. With company around it is a strain, not to mention the extra work.

Some people enjoy out-of-town guests. I am not writing for them. I am writing for myself and for others who want to be alone. If any of you reading this column wonder if you are a welcome guest, ask yourself one question: "Was I invited?" If you were, GO. If not, do somebody a favor and stay home. — HOLIDAY OUT, NOT INN

Dear Holiday: Here's your letter and lotsa luck. The pests never think you mean them. For the repeaters, a "Sorry, not this year," should be the standard reply when they announce they're going to honor you with a visit.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you settle a family dispute? I have a very good friend who attends another school on the other side of town. We are both honor students and do not goof off. We like to talk on the phone during the week every night to relieve the monotony of studying. I say a 15-or-20-minute conversation is not excessive. My mother says five minutes is plenty for teenagers to "yak about nothing."

Please take a stand on this. Your column is respected in our home. —CLOCKED IN POUGH-KEEPSJE

Hot Dog Month Coming Up

By JACK FILIATREAU
Secretary, Sausage Council
So who do you believe?
Some people claim the first cylindrical meaty smoked sausage was made in Vienna, Austria, in 1852, hence the name "wiener." Then there is the school of hot dog historians who just as firmly believe that this sausage originated in Frankfurt on Main, Germany, about the same time, thus the name "frankfurter."

One thing that is known for sure is that over here in the U.S.A. July is National Hot Dog Month which is sponsored by the Sausage Council of the National Live Stock and Meat Board in cooperation with meat processors and retailers.

There also is some lively controversy as to where and how the hot dog originated, as a hot dog in the true sense of the word is a frankfurter or a wiener wrapped in a bun.

It's generally agreed that the wiener — or frankfurter — without bun, made its American debut in 1871 at Coney Island and it is fitting that this amusement center should still lay claim to having the world's largest hot dog stand. Charles Feltman, a German immigrant, and butcher, introduced an all-beef product that was eagerly snapped up by bathers and fun-seekers at this Coney Island concession stand.

It Started In St. Louis?

As far as the hot dog itself is concerned, it is believed to have originated in St. Louis in 1883 when a peddler, A. L. Feuchtwanger, started the practice of selling sausage in a split, buttered bun. The most popular notion is that the bun was introduced out of dire financial necessity since, up until then, Feuchtwanger had been providing his customers with white mitts to keep from burning their hands while eating the heated sausages. However, his profits slipped away at a rate equal to the mitts disappearing. He prevailed upon his brother-in-law, a baker, to design a bun to fit around the little long meat product, known in St. Louis in those days as a "wienerwurst." The wienerwursts sold by Feuchtwanger were manufactured in the sausage kitchens of meat processors Tamme and Boepple.

One story has it that Feuchtwanger's wife actually engineered the idea of marrying the sausage and the bun. Could he — it's generally conceded that women are better match-makers than men.

Mit Chris Yet!
Today spectator sports events are synonymous with eating hot dogs and it was in 1893, or so the story goes, that a German saloon keeper, Chris Von der Ahe, owner of the St. Louis Browns, baseball team, introduced the hot dog as "fan fare."

Also in the same year, some authorities claim the wiener-in-a-bun made its first appearance outside St. Louis at the Columbian Exposition held in Chicago. This is one of the lesser known stories about the history of the hot dog and doesn't appear to be as well documented as some of the information relating to St. Louis and the hot dog.

At 1904 Expo

Herr Feuchtwanger apparently was the first real patron of what we know as the hot dog sandwich . . . because in 1904, there he was at the St. Louis Louisiana Purchase Exposition, dispensing the heated sausages in a bun to fairgoers. For perhaps the first time, the hot dog was then given on-the-spot recognition, as the St. Louis Republic recorded in 1904, "in a short time everyone was contentedly munching a thick roll including a bit of freshly cooked sausage."

Despite the European ancestry, nothing is more American than a hot dog — unless it's baseball. But it was not that great American game which produced the phrase "hot dog."

It happened at a football game. A concessionaire at the Polo Grounds in New York thought that the fans would like a hot dish to supplement their peanuts and pop diet. He decided upon "dashhund" sausages and devised portable tanks to keep them hot while his vendors roamed the stands.

Dorgan's Hot Dog

And it was during this flurry of activity in the stands that the popular nickname was attached to the red hots. Tad Dorgan, a sports humorist and cartoonist, was a spectator that day in 1900 and, intrigued by the red hot dachshund sausages, developed a cartoon on the theme. Hurriedly writing the caption to meet his newspaper's deadline, he realized that he couldn't spell "dachshund" and titled his artwork, "Hot Dog." Even this story has come under controversy as some camps contend that Dorgan was not in the stands that day and that it wasn't until 1915 that he baptized the sandwich and the name stuck.

Anyway, Americans will eat more than 80 hot dogs on the average this year. With that there is no controversy as the hot dog, no matter what its history, retains its title as one of the most popular sandwiches that the Americans ever invented.

Lawyers, not unfrequently come to ride in their own carriages by the way in which they have managed the conveyances of their clients.

A gentleman in a suburban town buried his sixth wife last week. Shortly after the funeral he met the minister who officiated, and offered him a three dollar greenback. The minister declined to take it, saying he was not accustomed to accept pay for such services. The gentleman coolly replied, "Just as you say; but that's what I've been in the habit of paying."

LAW on the farm

CONTRACTS WITH CUSTOM SPRAY OPERATORS

Thousands of Illinois farmers will employ the services of custom ground and aerial spray operators this year. In choosing an operator the farmer should be sure to select one who has the skill required to do a satisfactory job.

Under terms of a law passed in 1905, custom sprayers will be required to pass an examination, pay an annual license fee of $25 and submit a performance bond to the State Department of Agriculture. The law does not apply to those who fumigate structures or vehicles, to veterinarians, tree experts, canning establishments, or governmental bodies, or to farmers who apply pesticides for themselves and as many as two neighbors. All other persons must demonstrate that they are familiar with the proper use and application of pesticides as well as with the dangers involved and precautions needed to safeguard plant and animal life.

Although a written contract is not required by law, one should be written for larger spray jobs. This contract should specify the time and number of treatments, the chemicals to be used, the price and terms of payment, and provisions that will protect the farmer against liability for injury to the crops and livestock of adjoining owners. The following contract provisions are suggested to protect the farmer against liability.

1. "The custom operator will use only appropriate and effective materials prepared and mixed according to scientific standards for the particular purpose, and will apply such materials in proper strength and in an approved manner."

2. "The farm operator will be reimbursed in full by the custom operator for any injury or damage resulting from defective materials or faulty application, or from negligence on the part of the custom operator in carrying out the operation."

3. "The custom operator agrees to maintain insurance that will reimburse the farm operator for any damage he may be required by law to pay other owners who suffer injury to crops, livestock, or trees as a result of the spraying operations."

4. "The custom operator releases the farm operator from liability for any injury or damage suffered by the custom operator or his employees in the discharge of this contract."

Drainage commissioners and other public officials who contract for spray or dusting jobs should also require insurance protection on the part of the operator.

A good contract containing these provisions, and any others that may be agreed upon, will serve to protect not only the farmer but also the custom operator.

4-H Club Activities

The Franklin Straight Shoot or 4-H club won first place award Monday evening in the 1967 Morgan County Share-The Fun Finals. Lloyd DeOrnellas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob DeOrnellas, of Jacksonville, won the first place award for master of ceremonies. The Peppy Peppers 4-H Club, skit "The Intergalactic Voyage" was chosen runner-up. Alternate M.C. was Art Moss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Moss of Jacksonville. Approximately 200 people attended the contest held at the Jacksonville Turner Junior High, Jacksonville, to watch the eleven 4-H clubs and three M.C.s compete for the privilege of representing Morgan County in the State contest to be held during the Illinois State Fair. All eleven clubs and the three M.C.s competing Monday evening had received "A" ratings at their district contest. One was held at Chapin, on June 3, where 10 clubs gave their skits, and one was held at Franklin on June 9, where 11 clubs competed for "A" ratings. Leaders of the winning club, the Franklin Straight Shooters, are John Gordon, Robert Dailey, and Howard Bryant. The club presented a skit titled "4-H Green and the 4-H."

The Chapin Top Notchers 4-H club met June 12 with Jackie Brown, Joyce White, Janet White, Darlene Schroeder, Martin Bracewell and Lavona Schone appearing on the program.

Lavona Schone read an article in Morgan County is $1.02 per bushel, dealing with safety. Marilyn Schroeder presided at the meeting. The local achievement program was discussed.

1967 Deadline For Soybean Corn Loans Near

Wallace T. Hemmrich, office manager, Morgan County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, announces the final date for accepting applications for loans and purchases on the 1966 crop corn and soybeans is June 30.

To be eligible for a corn loan the producer must have participated in the feed grain program.

Corn must grade No. 2 or better and must not contain over 14 percent moisture.

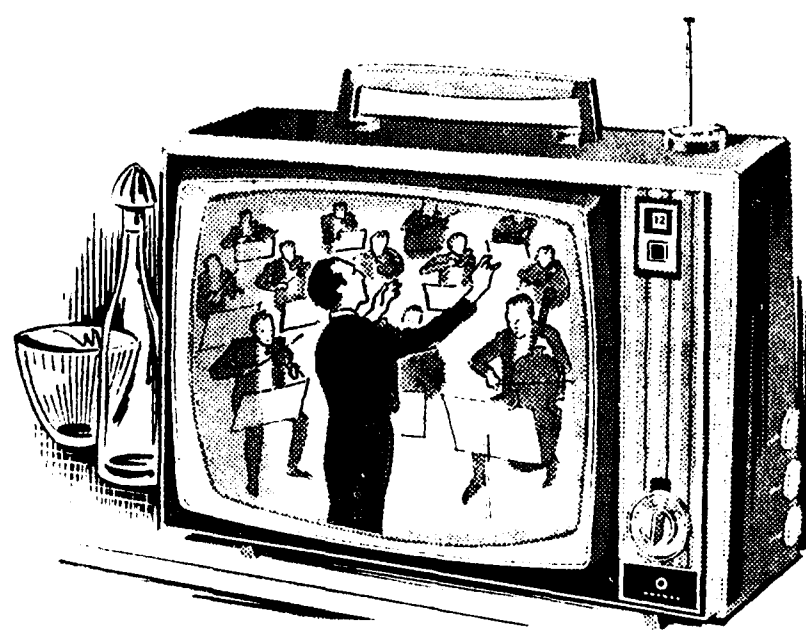

The basic 1966 corn loan rate in Morgan county is $1.02 per bushel. The producer may also save the opportunity to earn additional premiums of up to three cents per bushel when the corn is delivered to CCC, providing grading factors meet the requirements.

The local loan rate on 1966 Black presided during the busy crop soybeans is $2.55 per bushel. Premiums of 4c per bushel of premiums of 4c per bushel may be earned for soybeans containing 12.2 percent or less moisture, and 2c per bushel for low foreign material of 1 percent or less.

The local achievement program was discussed.

You get a tighter, stronger roof (or side) with CECOROLL...and it costs no more!

Just roll it on and nail it down

Tighter because there are fewer side laps. CECOROLL seals out weather, water, dirt and dust, even under hurricane conditions.

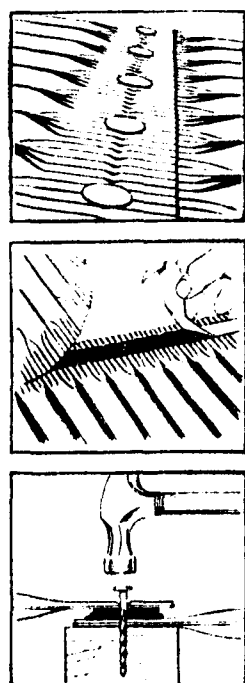

Stronger because single, long piece helps stiffen your entire building. More nails per piece for greater holding power, but no more nails per building than with sheets. CECOROLL gives you extra bridging strength between purlins.

Faster application because there's less handling. One piece of CECOROLL covers the area of five separate conventional sheets. Printed lap guide and scored nailing grooves give you fast, perfect alignment and easy nailing.

Crimped edges eliminate need to match corrugations, permit solid nailing and tight weatherproof joint. CECOROLL EXCLUSIVE!

Factory-applied mastic seals forever with only 1 1/2" lap... saves time, material, and cuts down roof weight. CECOROLL EXCLUSIVE!

Scored non-slip nailing grooves speed application even more. CECOROLL EXCLUSIVE!

smiles and friendliness. And Saturday he went as the President's guest on a U.S. Air Force plane to Niagara Falls.

Western diplomats suspect that the top Soviet leadership in Moscow — quite possibly since Kossygin arrived here — has made some fundamental decisions to strengthen the Soviet policy of peaceful coexistence. The aim would be to balance out the antagonisms born of the Middle East crisis and Vietnam.

The hints of possible action, based on Friday's talks at Glassboro, include:

1. Agreement on a draft of a treaty to stop the proliferation of nuclear weapons by freezing possession in the hands of the present nuclear powers. Moscow and Washington have been close to final action for weeks. Their draft would go to the 17-nation disarmament conference in Geneva for negotiation with other countries.
2. Agreement to look into the possibility of limiting the nuclear arms race by halting deployment of antiballistic missile systems. The Soviet Union already has started installing a system, primarily near Moscow. Johnson proposed in January that the two countries try to avoid this new stage of armament competition, costing billions of dollars.
3. Agreement to work together as far as possible to bring about a permanent peace settlement in the Middle East. The U.S. and Soviet governments already agree, as the talks at Glassboro re-emphasized, that Israel exists as a state. This is a legal point, which the Soviet-supported Arabs have never accepted. One of Johnson's Middle East settlement aims is to get the Arabs to accept it.

U.S. officials believe progress along the lines of Johnson's and Kossygin's speeches on the Middle East Monday well may be possible. Kossygin said Israel must give up territory conquered in its week's war against the Arabs. Johnson said withdrawal of Israeli troops must be linked to a general peace settlement, covering permanent boundaries, solution of the refugee problem, and the like.

Johnson also called for a limitation on arms shipments into the Middle East in the future as a means of keeping the peace. The Soviet Union has been the main arms supplier to Arab states, notably Egypt, over 12 years at a U.S.-estimated cost of more than $2 billion. Soviet officials here have given U.S. leaders the word that they do not want to go for a massive Arab arms build-up again.

Other major Middle East arms suppliers apart from the United States, include Britain, France and West Germany. Any big-power decision to impose a ceiling and make it stick will require negotiations with those and perhaps some other countries.

U.S. officials believe the Arab rearment problem has been a main topic of discussion between Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser and Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorniy in Cairo this week.

On another aspect of the Middle East crisis, it was learned Saturday that Egyptian Deputy Prime Minister Mahmoud Fawzi had conferred with Secretary of State Dean Rusk Thursday night. Fawzi requested the conference, which lasted an hour in Rusk's Waldorf Towers apartment. An Egyptian move to improve relations with Washington was indicated by Fawzi's action.

Another Rusk appointment suggested that the United States was keeping Britain informed of progress in the Glassboro conference. After returning from Glassboro, Rusk met Friday night with Foreign Minister George Brown. Officials who confirmed the appointment gave no information on the discussion but indicated its purpose was obvious.

American officials said the first round at Glassboro Friday was remarkable chiefly for the cordial atmosphere, which quickly developed. Atmosphere is a word diplomats cherish for its vagueness. No great problems were solved, it was said, but future solutions seemed to become more possible.

A great help in developing the atmosphere was the fact that Johnson had just become a grandfather with the birth of a son to Luci Kossygin Nugent Wednesday. Kossygin began this theme by boasting that he had been a grandfather for 18 years. From that point, the two went on to talk about the kind of world they would like their grandchildren to grow up in.

In the 5½ hours they were together in Glassboro, Johnson and Kossygin spent more than three hours closeted in private conversation with only their interpreters present. There was no word of angry conversation, or harsh language passing between them.

Aged Ashland Woman Injured In Fall Over Cat

ASHLAND — Eighty-nine-year-old Mrs. Rosa Brown fell over a cat at the Burch Nursing Home and broke her right hip. She was taken to Memorial hospital, Springfield.

Richard Louis Jurgens and Allen Meyer were among 3,567 students who received degrees from the University of Illinois at Urbana in annual commencement exercises Saturday, June 17. Both received bachelor's degrees.

The Ashland Lions Club has been invited by the Jacksonville Lions to accompany them on a baseball outing to St. Louis at 5 p.m. Wednesday, June 28. A fee of $7.00 per Lion will be charged. This includes a round trip air-conditioned bus, a night game with San Francisco, a sack supper, and refreshment. Presently five Ashland Lions have made reservations.

Patients in hospitals are: Mrs. Burless Bennett, the Memorial; Mary Reiser and William Troxell, St. John's hospital; Mrs. Margaret (H. L.) Creed entered Memorial for a series of tests.

'DOSH' CHILDREN ATTEND CAMP AT LAKE DECATUR

MEREDOSIA — Six children from the Meredosias Church of Christ are attending J. Christian Camp at Lake Decatur this week. They are: Royce and Cheryl Hammett; Melanie Smith; Vicky, Tony, and Ricky Newman.

Mrs. and Mrs. James Hibbett returned as counselors for the J. Christian Camp after last week. Mrs. Maude Winter, Mrs. Wayne Hammett and Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. James Hibbett of Meredosias, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Reynolds of Perry provided transportation.

Hugh Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Reynolds, is remaining at the camp for another week.

Motorcycle Laws Okayed By House

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois House passed Saturday a package of four bills setting up licensing and safety provisions for operation of motorcycles.

The legislation for the first time provides licensing standards for motorcyclists, who heretofore had operated with a regular drivers license.

The minimum age for a license would be 18.

Certain safety equipment is specified by the bills, including two foot rests and permanent handgrips on each side of motorcycles with passenger seats.

Protective headgear also would be required and motorcyclists would be prohibited from passing on the right or weaving between two vehicles on the left.

The bills went back to the Senate for concurrence in amendments.

A new program for treating drug addiction, calling for a 30-bed pilot facility in Chicago, cleared the House and advanced to Gov. Otto Kern.

Rep. Arthur Telser, R-Chicago, described it as a "progressive concept" under which addicts who had been convicted of minor crimes could volunteer for treatment instead of going to jail.

The Illinois Mental Health Department, State's Attorney and the presiding judge would have to give their consent before the addict could volunteer.

Disqualified from the program would be persons convicted on crimes of violence or possession or sale of narcotics.

After an hour's debate, the House passed 93-54 a measure changing the public aid law to exempt children over 21 of financial responsibility for their parents.

Rep. Corneal Cavis, D-Chicago, said it cost the Illinois Public Aid Department more to try to collect from the children than it got in payments.

Rep. George Burditt, R-LaGrange, a leading opponent, charged the bill "will destroy our whole concept of family responsibility."

Other Senate bills passed by the House provide for: Making it a public nuisance, punishable under the criminal code, to annoy or intimidate a person because he is about to sell or buy or has sold a residence.

Paying $10,000 to the widow or family or firemen or policemen killed in the line of duty.

Authorizing counties, cities, airport authorities and port districts to acquire industrial buildings and sites for leasing to industries and to issue revenue bonds to carry out redevelopment plans.

Permitting school districts to operate year-round classes.

Requiring disclosure of information in connection with consumer credit transactions, including loans, credit sales and other credit arrangements. The Department of Financial Institutions would enforce the proposed law.

Springfield. He spent a day here with Mrs. Cora Jones, his grandmother, this week.

Miss Betty Jo Birch and nephew, Nathan Swift, of Caneyville, Ky., spent Wednesday evening at the home of the former's brother, Edgar Birch, and family. Betty is staying this week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Birch.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Edwards of Berwyn, and the latter's sister, Mrs. Ruth Schaad of Chandler, spent Thursday with their mother, Mrs. Lizzie Edwards.

The Martha Circle of the local Methodist church held their meeting at Rossi's restaurant in Virginia at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Hostesses were Mrs. C. C. Williamson, Mrs. John Williamson, Mrs. Lloyd Strubling, and Mrs. D. L. Clarke. Mrs. Gertrude Christianer was program chairman.

Mrs. Mabel Monroe entertained the Centenary Club at her home Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Freida Orne and Mrs. Rose Campbell were program chairmen. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistant Mrs. Mary Douglass.

METHODIST PASTOR ARRIVES TO SERVE CHURCH IN BROWN

MT. STERLING — Rev. Loren N. Campbell and his wife are expected to arrive in Mt. Sterling this week where he will be serving the local Methodist church. The Campbells are moving here from Bradley, Ill.

The couple are natives of Indiana and most of Rev. Campbell's ministry has been spent in that state. Before entering the ministry both were school teachers.

Rev. Glenn Manis and his family will be moving to Springfield where he has been assigned a church.

Three Mt. Sterling girls are members of the 1967 class of St. John's School of Nursing in Springfield. They are Barbara Tracy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tracy; Judith Krupp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Krupp; and Rosemary Volk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Volk.

Mrs. Opal Tolle and Mrs. Wilma Hanks of here are with a caravan of travelers on a nine day trip to visit Expo 67 in Montreal, Canada.

Seldon Renaker of Mt. Sterling has again become a patient at Culbertson hospital at Rushville.

UCT PROMOTIONAL DINNER JUNE 29

The monthly Promotional Dinner for the UCT will be served at 7 p.m. Thursday, June 29, at Hamiltons. All members are invited but must take a guest to be entitled to a free meal. Reservations must be called to Ray Davidson, promotional director or E. O. Sample, secretary by June 28.

The July meeting will be held at Nichols Park on the 10th at which time plans will be made for the Council's annual picnic on July 16th at the MacMurray Cabin.

VISITORS IN ALEXANDER HOME

ALEXANDER — Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Keenan and John. Mrs. Oral Keenan and Kelly Robbins have returned home after a 10 days visit near Hardinsburg, Kentucky and Tell City, Ind. with relatives.

Cathy and Brian Coe of Jacksonville are spending a few days with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kumble.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Keenan and Doug of Springfield are visiting several weeks in Alexander with Mrs. C. E. Keenan and Kelly.

Participants in the program were Rocky Ballard, Ruth Ann Johnson, Gary Martin, and Leroy Robinson.

The Weather Elsewhere

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS STATE

Thunderstorms and rain covered most of Illinois Saturday.

The stormy weather delayed landings for 20 minutes or so at O'Hare International Airport in Chicago.

Parts of Skokie and the northwestern sections of Evanston lacked power for a brief period. The blackout was blamed on lightning and high winds.

The rainfall exceeded a half inch in the East Dubuque area and Vandalia.

A thunderstorm watch was posted for central Illinois from noon until 6 p.m.

Scott County Share-The-Fun Program Set

By Naomi Lawson Winchester Correspondent Telephone 742-3490

WINCHESTER — The annual Scott County 4-H Share-The-Fun program will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Winchester High School auditorium.

The program, developed and organized by the 4-H members of the various clubs throughout the county, gives participants a chance to appear before an audience, develop and arrange a "fun program."

A skit to represent Scott County in Illinois State Fair competition will be chosen as will a master or mistress of ceremonies.

The highlight of the evening will be the announcing of the identities of "Miss Scott County 4-H" and her court. The candidates were judged and a winner selected last Monday evening.

Receive Degrees

John Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Wright, and Harold Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Williams, members of the Winchester FFA chapter, were awarded state farmer degrees at the State FFA Convention held in Urbana on June 15.

Both Wright and Williams are planning to enter the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Science after their graduation next year.

At Camp Illinek

Local Boy Scouts attended Camp Illinek in Springfield last week, accompanied by Warren Wallace.

The Beaver patrol was represented by Paul McGlasson, Robert Wallace, Mark Wallace and Steve Tankersley. Mike Hubbs and John Conrod were delegates from the Pegasus Patrol and the Flaming Arrow Patrol.

Barry Conrod, John Passavage, Kim Scott, Kim Wilson and Tom Pranger.

Enter Contest

Scott County will be represented at the state 4-H Judging Contest to be held Tuesday on the University of Illinois campus in Urbana.

Selected on the basis of the April 1 contest held in Springfield were Bob Bruns, Dava McKinney, Andy Brown, Bill Bruns, J. D. Feareyough and Allen Worrell.

Shrine To Meet

Lebanon Shrine 91, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the Masonic Hall in Winchester.

On the social committee are Opal Waggoner, chairman; Frances Crabtree and Margaret Chambers.

Personals

Miss Joyce Thomas and Miss Carol King are visiting the latter's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Milliken of Camp LeJeune, N.C.

Miss Julia Wisdom and her sister, Mrs. Dave Murphy of Bellvue, visited in Canton recently and Mrs. Murphy returned to Winchester. The two later visited their brother, Gilford Wisdom, in Jerseyville.

Miss Sue Siltan has enrolled at Arizona State University in Tempe for a 10-week course. She will return to the U. of I. in the fall.

ROODHOUSE LEGION POST TO HOST DIVISION MEET

ROODHOUSE — American Legion Post and Unit 373 will host the American Legion Third Division Convention, June 24-25. A banquet and dance will be held on Saturday evening at the Legion Home.

On Sunday at 10 o'clock the auxiliary will meet in the Washington School Junior High music room where the members and visitors will be greeted by Mayor Ray Prather and the local auxiliary president, Maxine Schofield. The men will meet at the Legion Home at the same time and will also be greeted by the mayor and the Legion Commander Eugene Masters.

On Sunday a smorgasbord will be served at the Legion Home at the noon hour. Chairmen for the convention are Louis England, Jr., and Marie Locher.

Mrs. F. D. Allman entertained with a neighborhood tea Thursday afternoon at her home at East Clay street. The tea honored newcomers to the neighborhood including Mrs. John W. Barnett, Mrs. Gary Roehr and Mrs. James Barnett. Mrs. Carl Spangenberg, who is relatively new to the town, was unable to attend.

A surprise visit was made to the party by Mrs. Allman's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fedder, Winchester, who were on route home from a vacation trip to Washington, D.C., and other points east. The Fedders were welcomed to the party by all.

4-H CLUB MEETS

The Berea Ag 4-H Club met at the Yatesville Community Center. Pledges were led by Don Bloomfield and Mike Woolridge. All members were urged to finish their requirements.

Participants in the program were Rocky Ballard, Ruth Ann Johnson, Gary Martin, and Leroy Robinson.

Merritt

MERRITT — Vonna and Dale Merritt of Jacksonville were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rolf and family Sunday night.

Wilbur and Ed Coats called on Mrs. Kate Coats Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie DeFratres, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Simpkins and son Donald of Jacksonville and Mr. and Mrs. George Simpkins of Florida visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Berry Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Anna Hitt called on Mrs. Marie Hardwick Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Bessie Moore visited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Huddleston on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Robinson and Beth Ann spent Father's Day with Mr. and Mrs. John Smith in Jacksonville. The Smiths had just returned home from a vacation in Minnesota.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Shipley and Mrs. Daisy Little and son, Marion, called on Mrs. Marie Hardwick Sunday night.

Mrs. Blanche Christison spent Saturday and Sunday with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Blake and Miss Jane Havens called on Mr. and Mrs. Lee Berry Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Robert Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. Claire Goble of Agency, Iowa, left Saturday morning on a several days vacation trip to Yellowstone Park, and the states of Oregon and Washington. Mrs. Simpson and Mrs. Goble are sisters and both are high school teachers.

Warren Merriman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Merriman, received his Bachelor of Arts Degree from Illinois College recently. He plans to study aeronautical engineering at Mississippi State University next year.

Friends here received word of the marriage of Harold Peters of New Berlin to Miss Cecelia Fleck of Buffalo. They will reside on a farm near New Berlin.

Miss Sharon Peters received her degree from Illinois College and plans to attend Jane Addams Graduate School of Social Work at the University of Illinois next fall.

Kiwanis Club Names New VP

George T. Hardesty has been elected vice president of the Jacksonville Kiwanis Club, to fill the vacancy created when Oliver Buck assumed the presidency upon the resignation of Dr. Frank Nestler. Nestler left the city this month to become pastor of the First Methodist church in Kankakee.

Kiwanians last Thursday heard a report on the work of VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America), a domestic "peace corps," from Paul A. Duncan, executive secretary from Washington, D.C. According to Duncan, millions of local tax dollars have been saved and countless individuals have been educated and rehabilitated as the result of work by VISTA volunteers.

There presently are 131 volunteers in Illinois, but none serving in west central Illinois.

Sixty per cent of VISTA workers are college students, and 11 per cent are over the age of 50. Last year, 6,700 of 190,000 applicants were trained and placed in local projects throughout 48 of the 50 states.

OK REMODELING FUNDS FOR MANSION

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A proposal to preserve the Governor's Mansion for $1.5 million was approved 9-5 Saturday by Illinois Senate Appropriations Committee.

Rep. Paul Edward, D-Chicago, who noted the mansion was the oldest executive residence in the Midwest, said the $1.5 million would be cheaper in the long run than annual repairs.

"There'll be no more propping up the floor in the dining room every time we have a General Assembly gathering," Edward said of the structure built in 1855.

The building would be remodeled and space added. The committee was considered a stiff hurdle for the bill because of the opposition of its chairman, Sen. William Harris, R-Pontiac.

Harris said the mansion was in a commercial area downtown that "puts our governor in a fishbowl" without parking for his guests and without privacy for his family life. He suggested John W. Barnett, Mrs. Gary Roehr and Mrs. James Barnett. Mrs. Carl Spangenberg, who is relatively new to the town, was unable to attend.

A surprise visit was made to the party by Mrs. Allman's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fedder, Winchester, who were on route home from a vacation trip to Washington, D.C., and other points east. The Fedders were welcomed to the party by all.

Area Scouts Leave For Ranch In New Mexico

Thirty-one Scouts, Explorers and three leaders make up the Abraham Lincoln Council contingent which left June 22 for Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico.

The group will travel by bus from Springfield to Galesburg, where they board the train.

Leading the group is Billy J. Davis, Advisor of Post 200, Springfield, assisted by Virginia and Rev. George Desmond of Springfield. At Philmont the group divides into three crews under the three men and hike the trails of Philmont following the trails each group has planned.

The contingent arrives at Philmont Friday evening after a tour of Denver and the Denver area. After a thorough check-in at Philmont (including medical-rechecks and orientation sessions) the crews leave the headquarters area for eleven full days of hiking (approximately 50 miles) with full pack and participating in the many activities that the 137,000 acres of Philmont provides.

On the return trip to Philmont the contingent will stay overnight at Fort Carson Army Camp near Colorado Springs and take a sight seeing tour including the Garden of the Gods and the U.S. Air Force Academy.

The contingent will return to Springfield on July 7 after 16 days of real Scouting adventure through some of America's finest country.

The following Scouts and Explorers from this area will participate: Wesley Hendrick of Arenzville, troop 118; Harvey Anglum and Randy Greenwood, both of Virginia, post 126; Bob Hager of Beardstown, post 123; Bill McKean of Franklin, troop 158; and Henry Raleigh, Robert Thieman of troop 109 and Scott A. Hemphill of troop 111, all of Jacksonville.

JUNE'S BEAUTIFUL BRIDE

Mrs. John Hamilton Russel, III

Susan Kincheloe And Jack Russel Vows In Ohio

Of interest here is the June tenth wedding at Toledo, Ohio of Miss Susan Claire Kincheloe and John Hamilton (Jack) Russel, III, both members of the Class of 1966 at Illinois College.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. George W. Kincheloe of Worthington, Ohio and the late Reverend Kincheloe and has been a student personnel assistant and Mrs. John Hamilton Russel, Jr. of Toledo.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend Norman S. DeWolfe, assisted by the bride's uncle, Dr. Samuel Kincheloe and also a family friend, the Reverend Curtis M. Glick of Waterman, Illinois. A reception followed in the church parlors.

Given in marriage by her brother, John A. Kincheloe, the bride wore a floor length cage gown of white English net with long sleeves. Alencon lace trimmed the bodice, sleeves and hemline. She wore a matching lace Mantilla of Cathedral length bordered with lace. Her bouquet was of lily of the valley and stephanotis centering a white orchid.

Mrs. John A. Kincheloe was matron of honor and Mrs. Clifford Mercer of Carbondale the bridesmatron. They were gown-ed alike in long pink gowns with empire waists marked with darker pink and green. Their flowers were pink and white and the same blossoms were used in their floral headpieces.

Rob McCall, Harvard Divinity School, was the best man. Ushers were four cousins of the groom, John L. McCarty of Jacksonville; Walter M. Rotkins of Saratoga, California; Scott C. Molden of St. Louis, Missouri; James F. Karshner of Huntington Woods, Michigan and Clifford Mercer, Carbondale. The best man, John McCarty, and Mr. and Mrs. Mercer are all graduates of Illinois College.

The bride taught French in the Reynoldsburg Junior high School the past year and in September will begin graduate work in French at Ohio State University where she has a teaching assistantship. She spent her junior year studying at the Sorbonne in Paris, France.

The groom is a graduate student of Ohio State University, working in the field of counseling psychology. He has been a student personnel assistant and in September will become the assistant director of Morrell Town, a university residence hall, housing 1,920 men and women students.

The groom is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton Russel, nephew of Mrs. Harold M. McCarty and Mrs. Henry M. Finch, all of Jacksonville and a great nephew of Miss Katherine Barr.

Attending the wedding from Jacksonville were Miss Barr, Mr. and Mrs. McCarty, Miss Jean McCarty and John L. McCarty, who served as usher.

Miss Montgomery Bride Saturday In Connecticut

Miss Phyllis Ann Montgomery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Francis Montgomery of Newington, Connecticut, and granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. F. Garm Norbury of Jacksonville, became the bride of John Millard Sessions Saturday afternoon, June 24th, at St. James Episcopal church in West Hartford, Connecticut.

Canon Douglas Kennedy officiated for the ceremony. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Sessions of East Aurora, New York. The bride, a graduate of the Chaffee School at Windsor, Connecticut and Smith College in

Mrs. John Millard Sessions (nee Phyllis Ann Montgomery)

Northampton, Massachusetts, wore a floor length gown of white linen, trimmed in Venetian lace and fashioned with a Watteau train attached at the shoulders. Her veil fell from a matching linen Dior bow head-dress and she carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Donna McClure of Newington was maid of honor and the Misses Jane Martin of Hon-oye Falls, New York; Cheryl Serlin of Brooklyn, New York; Lucy Beach of West Hartford and Anne Sessions, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. They wore floor length gowns of starlight blue linen shantung with matching Dior bows and carried Edwardian bouquets of yellow and white Shasta pompons.

Stephen Clement III of Buffalo, New York was best man. Ushers were Charles Kacknow, Elizabeth, New Jersey; Mark Guyer, Lynbrook, New York; H. Peter McGrath, Annapolis, Maryland and Jeffrey Montgomery, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at the Hartford Gold Club, West Hartford, immediately following the ceremony.

Mr. Sessions, a graduate of Amherst College has been attending the University of Rochester, working toward his doctorate in French. The couple will leave for Paris in August where Mr. Sessions will be studying at the Sorbonne.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Dr. and Mrs. Frank Norbury of Jacksonville and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wentz, Jr. of Wilmington, Delaware.

Judith Barnard Is June Bride Of Roger Allen Stacy

Miss Judith Sue Barnard, whose mother is the former Helen Woolsey of Jacksonville, became the bride on June 17th of Roger Allen Stacy at the First Presbyterian church in Wood River. The bride is the daughter of the Clayton Barnards and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Stacy, all of Wood River. Mrs. Dorothy Woolsey, 611 West Beecher avenue, is the maternal grandmother of the bride.

Hurricane lamps provided the illumination for the candlelight ceremony at an altar banked with white glads and palms. The Reverend Manley Mace read the ceremony, assisted by Dr. Malcolm Stewart of Jacksonville.

Mrs. Mike Pennington, Miss Karen Kindred and Mrs. Tom Pine, all former college classmates, attended the bride. Members of the groom's party were Jon Gimney, best man; Steve McCollum of Jacksonville and Bill Fitzhugh.

The groom's brother, Douglas and the bride's brother, John, seated guests. Miss Sharma Deen Hopkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hopkins of Rood-house was flower girl.

The bride wore a gown of linen and Venice lace with kubuki sleeves. The lace frosted the A-line skirt, sleeves and waistline and was used on the Watteau train. Her illusion veil was gathered to a headdress of pearlized leaves. She carried a cascade of phalaenopsis, stephanotis and ivy.

The bride's attendants wore Samaron rose colored Saki gowns with floral headdresses and bouffant veils. Each carried a basket of pale pink daisies and roses.

After a honeymoon in Colorado the couple will live in Rantoul where the bride will be teaching this fall and the groom will attend the College of Engineering and also be employed in the civil engineering department at University of Illinois at Urbana. Mrs. Stacy graduated this month from Illinois State University.

Sherry Nortrup, Roger Patterson United June 16

Miss Sherry Kay Nortrup and Roger King Patterson exchanged vows in a ceremony Friday evening, June 16th, at the Grace Methodist church. The Reverend J. W. Patterson, grandfather of the groom, officiated for the ceremony.

Arrangements of flowers and greenery banked the candle-light church altar. Mrs. G. O. Webster was at the organ and Mrs. JoAnn Mason sang.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Allan Scholfield, Winchester route two, and Roscoe Nortrup, New Berlin route two. Mr. Scholfield gave his stepdaughter in marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Farrel Patterson, 214 East Greenwood avenue are parents of the groom.

Mrs. Jean Young was matron of honor and the bride's sister, Miss Sandra Scholfield of Winchester was bridesmaid. Linda Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilson of Winchester was the flower girl and Eddie Scholfield, Winchester, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

Ellis Patterson attended his brother as best man. Larry Nortrup, Winchester, brother of the bride, was groomsman. Ushers were Tom Ryan, Craig Woods, Joe Wilkerson, Steve Morthole and Michael Matijevich.

The bride wore a gown of white silk organza over mist taffeta. Made on empire lines, the dress had elbow length sleeves of lace. Her chapel matching hat and multi-colored attached at the shoulders. A white roses lace bonnet, sewn with seed pearls held her veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of yellow and white daisies.

The matron of honor wore peach colored taffeta with a matching nylon train. Her peach cabbage rose headdress held an elbow length veil. The bridesmaid wore an identical costume. Each attendant carried a single long stemmed white rose, tied with a peach ribbon. The little flower girl carried colored petals in her basket.

Poudre blue lace with white accessories was worn by the mother of the bride with a cor-sage of pink roses. The groom's mother was in yellow linen with matching hat and multi-colored field, Mrs. Yvonne Glossop, Miss Jeanette Erickson, Mrs. Eileen Heaton, Miss Beverly Glossop, Miss Peggy Turner and Miss Peggy Pack assisting.

A reception was held at the church with Mrs. Jean Schol-

After a honeymoon in St. Louis the newlyweds took up residence at 426 North MacArthur street in Macomb.

The bride graduated in 1966 from Jacksonville High School and is a secretary for the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation in Macomb. The groom graduated with the same high school class and is a sophomore at Western Illinois University in Macomb. He is working this field and Mrs. Virginia Fear-tory in that city. The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Blackhawk served the Thursday night before the Friday wedding.

Among the many guests at the wedding were Mrs. Ronald King, Charleston; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. King, Arcola; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Patterson of Joliet and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Doane and family of Sedalia, Missouri.

NICHOLS PARK LADIES DAY GOLF NEWS

Last Tuesday was Teen Day at Nichols Park. Each player was asked to contribute a tee before starting the round and the two gals with low scores in each flight would divide the quantity of tees. Fran Chumley earned the first flight honors and Toni Rayburn won second flight honors.

Each player was given some help in that they were allowed to replay one shot on each hole. Fran, I'll try to sort out the pink ones when I divide the tees with you and Toni. You gals may pick up a new ball also for your efforts.

Three new faces appeared at the park last Tuesday, Sharon McGlasson, Lucy James and Keota Shouse. Lucy and Keota played with us a few years ago and we're glad to have them back. Sharon we hope you get to meet all the gals at the park and enjoy our Tuesday morning activities. Toni Rayburn seems to be in good health again and we're pleased to see her on the course.

We'd like to thank the Country Club gals for an enjoyable day. Even though the weatherman did not cooperate for golf every one enjoyed the bridge and pinocle. Prizes were won by Virginia Olson, Keota Shouse, Dorothy Busche, Betty Price and Della Birdsall.

A change in program for next week! The event for the morning will be a Flag Tournament instead of the Secret Partners event. Details will be given at the pro shop before teeing off.

Stop talking golf and start playing with the gals at Nichols Park!

NECK NEEDS ATTENTION

Many women who use cosmetics on their faces stop at the chinline. If neglected, the neck can become dry and crepey. Each night, when you are cleansing your face, pay special attention to your neck and throat. Clean thoroughly, then apply a moisturizing lotion to soften and lubricate the skin while you sleep.

Parson-Funk Wedding Held At Manchester

MANCHESTER—Miss Sharon Kay Funk of the Roodhouse community and Gregory Richard Parsons of Jacksonville were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, June tenth at the Manchester Methodist church.

The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Wayne Goodwin. White glads and palms were used at the church altar. Mrs. Virginia Funk was at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Miss Carol Chute.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice C. Funk, Roodhouse route one and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Parsons, Jacksonville route one.

Miss Vaughn Borman of Jacksonville was maid of honor. Miss Yolanda Stice, Winchester and the bride's sister, Connie, were the bridesmaids. A niece of the bride, Rhonda Walker of White Hall, was the flower girl.

The attendants wore empire sheath gowns of chiffon over taffeta with matching cabbage rose headpieces. Each carried a bouquet of carnations corresponding to her costume color.

Miss Borman was in Nile green, Miss Stice in maize and Miss Funk in pink. The little flower girl wore orchid, fashioned like the attendants' gowns. She also carried a basket of white rose petals.

Robert Parsons of Jacksonville attended his brother as best man. Ronald Shay and Steven Glossop both of Jacksonville, were groomsmen. Ushers were Darrell Sorrell and Robert Hunt. Tommy Peterson of Winchester was ring bearer.

Tapers at the altar were lighted during the prelude by Jimmy Dillon, cousin of the groom and Gary Funk, brother of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a long length gown of white silk organza appliqued with lace and pearls. Her detachable train was Chapel length. A jeweled headpiece held her veil of illusion and was also trimmed with lace and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses with her white Bible.

The bride's mother wore blue linen with white accessories and the bridegroom's mother chose beige lace with navy accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Roger Allen, the latter two, cousins of the bride, and Mrs. Robert Parsons, sister-in-law of the groom.

Since returning from a wedding trip to Lake of the Ozarks the newlyweds are making their home at 669 East State street in Jacksonville. The bride is employed at Elliott State Bank and the groom at Mobil Chemical Co.

Guests attended the wedding from Geneseo, Tallula, Beardstown, Petersburg, Alton, Loami, White Hall, Winchester, Jacksonville, Springfield and Washington, Ill.; St. Louis, Mo. and the states of Kansas and New Mexico.

June Opens New Year For Pilots

The Pilot Club of Jacksonville held its first business meeting of the new club year on June 14, at Hamilton's restaurant. Mrs. Edward Morrison, president, conducted the meeting.

The invocation was given by chaplain Miss Dorothy Luke-man, followed with the pledge to the flag. One of the goals of the year is to acquaint the public with an accurate Pilot Story that we are a service club and do not fly planes.

The coordinating chairman, Mrs. Mildred Hill, called for plans of work for the 1967-68 year which were read, discussed and approved. Mrs. Arthur Samore, community service chairman, reported that former patients who have been rehabilitated and are living in Shelter Care Homes were entertained at Hospitality House on May 2. Games and contests were played and refreshments of cookies and coffee were served. Mrs. Mildred Hill, Mrs. Reid Lasley, Miss Dorothy Lukeman and Mrs. C. Y. Rowe worked at Passavant Hospital gift shop in May.

The final planting of trees for the spring has been completed with the planting of twelve trees. Several Pilots plan to attend a tea in Bloomington to honor the new District 12 Governor Mrs. Roland Macy of Bloomington.

The June program meeting of the club will be a hamburger fry and a silent auction to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reid Lasley.

PAMPER YOUR EYES

Pamper your eyes with gentle, careful cleansing and thorough make-up removal. Don't rub, scrub or tug at the delicate skin around the eye and lid. To regain a bright, clear-eyed look, try a trick used by photographic models and make decongestant eye drops part of your regular beauty routine. Apply eye drops in each eye before you add accents, such as liner, shadow and mascara. It works visibly, while you watch, to restore sparkle and adds to clarity and expressiveness.

Thirteen members of an "Exploring the British Isles" tour which originated in Jacksonville have left New York and will visit literary, historical, cultural, and scenic landmarks and out-of-the-way places in Ireland, Northern Ireland, Scotland, and England. The educational tour has been prepared and directed by Donald R. Eldred, dean of students at Illinois College.

Shown above are: Mrs. Louise Becker of Jacksonville; an unidentified friend; Mrs. Genevieve Dawson of Springfield (front); Mrs.

N. Whiteside of Carrollton (back); Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Barlow of Jacksonville; Miss Leonore Schmidt of Savanna; Ted Case of Skokie; Mrs. Gwen H. Lee of Jacksonville; Chris Becker of Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Margery Byram of Kansas City, Mo.; and Dean Eldred. Also on the tour, but not pictured, are Miss Nancy S. Ray of Jacksonville and Richard Macher of Malverne, N.Y.

Miss Thelma Bacon and Miss Barbara Rogers of the Thrift Travel Service in Jacksonville assisted Dean Eldred in organizing travel details.

Puffs Save Puncturing

Cut down the mortality rate on rubber gloves by placing a soft cotton puff in each finger tip to prevent long nails from punching holes in the rubber. The cotton puffs do not mat up and provide a comfortable cushioning.

The Women's Page

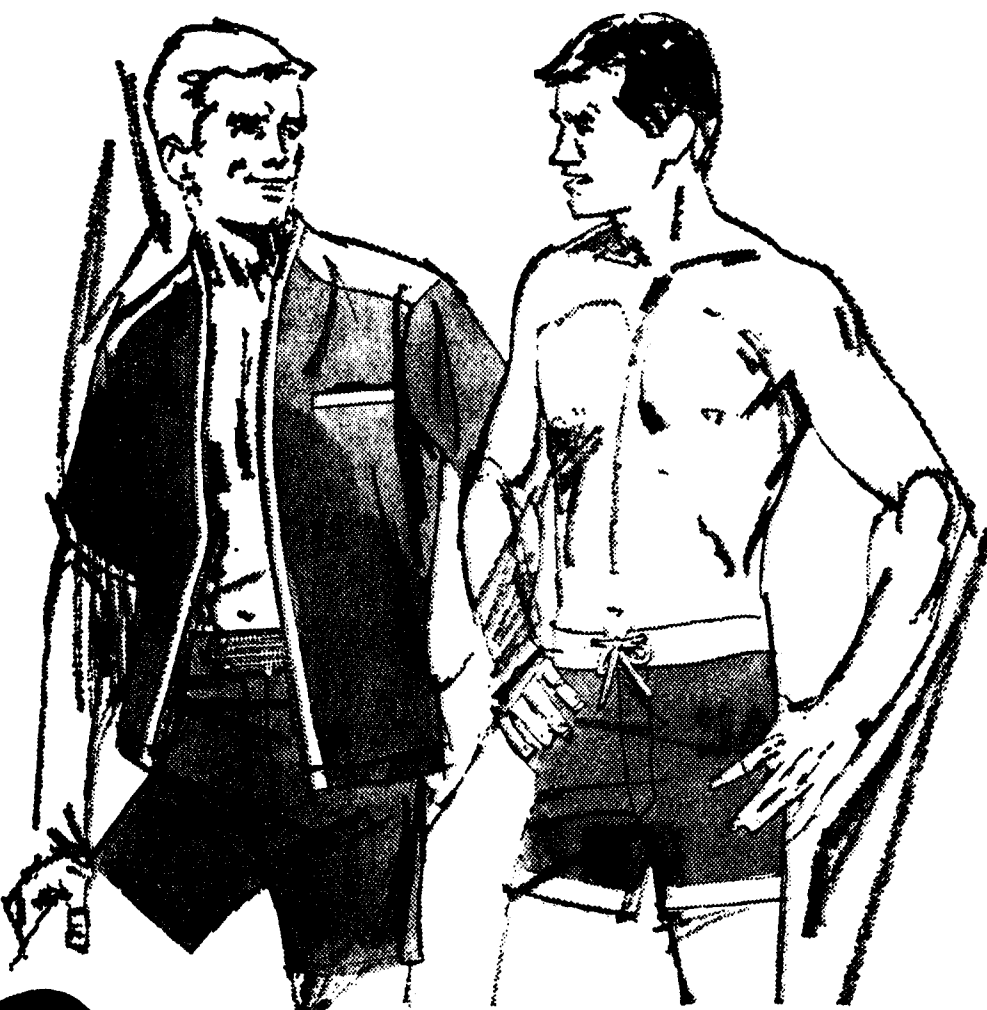

Several Hundred were received by members of the Nestler family at a reception last Sunday at Grace Methodist church. At top, Mrs. Nestler and Dr. Frank Nestler speak with Mary Jo Cody and her father, Willard Cody. In the lower picture Mrs. Roy Davenport serves punch to Mrs. Nestler, Dr. Nestler, Kristie, Jill and Steve. The family moved Tuesday to Kankakee where Dr. Nestler will be pastor of First Methodist church.

Rev. Floy J. Ekin arrived Wednesday to assume his duties as pastor at Grace. Rev. John P. Atkins is remaining as associate pastor.

The pastoral relations committee of the church was in charge of the reception attended by the congregation and friends. The Nestlers were presented a going away gift by the congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Scott

Mrs. Jene Highstein

Mrs. Willard Gunther Olmstead

Carolyn Bahan, Robert Scott Wed June 10

Nuptial vows were exchanged Saturday afternoon, June tenth, at Centenary Methodist church by Carolyn M. Bahan and Robert R. Scott with the Reverend Donald Batz, pastor, officiating. Pink and white carnations were used at the altar. Guests were seated by Michael and Larry Scott, brothers of the groom.

Mrs. Lewis Reno of the city was matron of honor and Mrs. David C. Fortado of Nauvoo was bridesmatron. Dick Barnes served as best man and Mr. Fortado as groomsman.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. S. E. White of Oneco, Florida. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence O. Scott, 858 Doolin avenue.

The bride wore a conventional length wedding dress of yellow satin and white lace with a tiara headdress and short veil. Her flowers were yellow roses and white carnations. Mrs. Reno and Mrs. Fortado were dressed identically in pink. Their flowers were pink and white carnations.

The mother of the groom wore beige linen with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. A reception was held in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony with Mrs. Steve May, Mrs. Kathryn Standley and Mrs. Pat Gibbs assisting.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott are making their home at 1415 West Lafayette avenue. Mrs. Scott is employed as an assistant to Paul J. Ineich, DDS. Mr. Scott, a graduate of Jacksonville High School, received his degree from Illinois Western University, and is employed by the Stronghurst, Illinois School District.

New Committees For GTS Club

Members of the GTS club were entertained June 15th at the Ranch House where Mrs. Lloyd West was the hostess. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Harry Killam who appointed committees.

The appointments include, program, Mrs. Rachel Long, Mrs. Lois Williams and Mrs. Chester Thomason; cards and flowers, Mrs. Margaret Stout and Mrs. Veva Maynard and calling committee, Mrs. Fannie Joy and Mrs. Pearl Killam.

Roll was answered by naming one's favorite flower. Programs were discussed for the coming year.

Mrs. Stout was in charge of the program and read a legend about flags, George Washington As a Plant Man and Couples Say "I Do" in Mass Ceremony in Mexico.

Two guests were present, Candis Killam and Elizabeth Martin. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Lois Williams June 28th.

Lovely refreshments were served at the close of the program.

Davis Couple Of Mt. Sterling Wed 50 Years

MT. STERLING — Mr. and Mrs. George R. Davis of Mt. Sterling celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last Sunday with a dinner at Bates restaurant here. Relatives of the couple were guests.

They were married June 20, 1917 and have spent their entire married life in Mt. Sterling. Mr. Davis is co-publisher of the Mt. Sterling newspaper, a business he has been engaged in a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Davis are parents of three children.

Mt. Sterling News
Mrs. Nell Baldwin, rural Mt. Sterling, is a patient at Schmitt hospital in Beardstown.

Mrs. Avis Tice of Mt. Sterling is a patient at McDonough County Hospital in Macomb.

Daisy Rigg of Mt. Sterling is a medical patient at Schmitt hospital in Beardstown.

Mrs. John Pine New President Of Entre Nous

Members of the Entre Nous Toastmistress club elected new officers at their June 21st dinner meeting held at Hamiltons. Invocation before the meal was offered by Mrs. C. J. Lonergan. The attractive tables, centered with garden flowers were arranged by Mrs. John Pine, Sr. and Mrs. Lonergan.

Table topics were distributed to three members by Mrs. Reginald Saner: 1st, Resa Walsh, Fathers Day; 2nd, Mrs. Gerri Taylor, What Does the First Day of Spring Mean to You? and 3rd, Mrs. Joe Farran, My Best Vacation.

The educational portion of the program was by Resa Walsh who gave examples on "play of words." A discussion followed with each providing synonyms to a list of given words.

The toastmistress, Mrs. Ed Jordan, called on Mrs. Walter Sether for her interesting autobiography.

The following were elected to office: Mrs. John Pine, Sr., president; Mrs. Walter Sether, vice president; Mrs. Joe Farran, treasurer; Mrs. Gertrude Jordan, secretary and Mrs. John Taylor, club representative.

Mrs. Myron Long reported on attending the recent Regional meeting held in Springfield. Mrs. John Taylor was the evaluator for the evening and Mrs. Joe Farran gave the thought for the day.

PRINTS STRESS STRIPES

Welcome, after several seasons of pastels, is the return of the patterned silk. Printed fabrics stress stripes, checks, plaids and florals. Black and white seem to be the favored color combinations, while brown and white is running a close second, followed by navy and white. Silhouettes are as varied as their colors. You can look for sleeveless, high-necked tents, slim, jewel-necked shifts or other styles that are belted or bloused.

Alanna Heiss, Baltimore Man United In East

Miss Alanna Lokke Heiss and Jene Highstein were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, June tenth at the Judson Memorial Church in New York. The pastor, the Reverend Howard Moody, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Heiss, 1106 West College avenue.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Gustav Highstein of Baltimore, Maryland, and the late Dr. Gustav Highstein.

The bride's sister, Miss Andrea Heiss, was the bridesmaid. The matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Fries of Cincinnati, a college roommate of the bride.

Stephen Highstein, brother of the groom, served as best man. Lyndon Heiss and Lokke Heiss, brothers of the bride, seated guests.

The bride carried a cascade of lily of the valley and white carnations. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace over satin. A pearl blossom crown held her veil of illusion.

The bride's attendants wore rose crepe dresses and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

The mother of the bride wore light blue lace with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a beige linen suit. Each wore a corsage of roses.

A reception was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Abelson. Following the reception the couple left for New Orleans. The groom is cultural director of the Harlem Youth Poverty Program. The bride is a social worker for the State of New York.

SHADES FROM SCRAPS

Turn a plastic-coated shade into a decorative feature in a child's room. Cut animal or flower shapes from scraps of printed, washable wallpaper or fabric and glue them onto the shade. You also can cut out your child's art work and attach it to the shade for variety.

Kirsten Alusow W. J. Olmstead Pledge Vows

A ceremony Saturday afternoon in the DeMotte Memorial Chapel on MacMurray College campus united in marriage Miss Kirsten Alusow and Willard Gunther Olmstead. The Reverend J. Weldon Smith officiated.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Alusow, 536 South Clay avenue, was given in marriage by her maternal grandfather, R. Nelson. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Olmstead of Chappaqua, New York.

Miss Sharon Alusow attended her sister and Stephen Kelly of Chappaqua was best man.

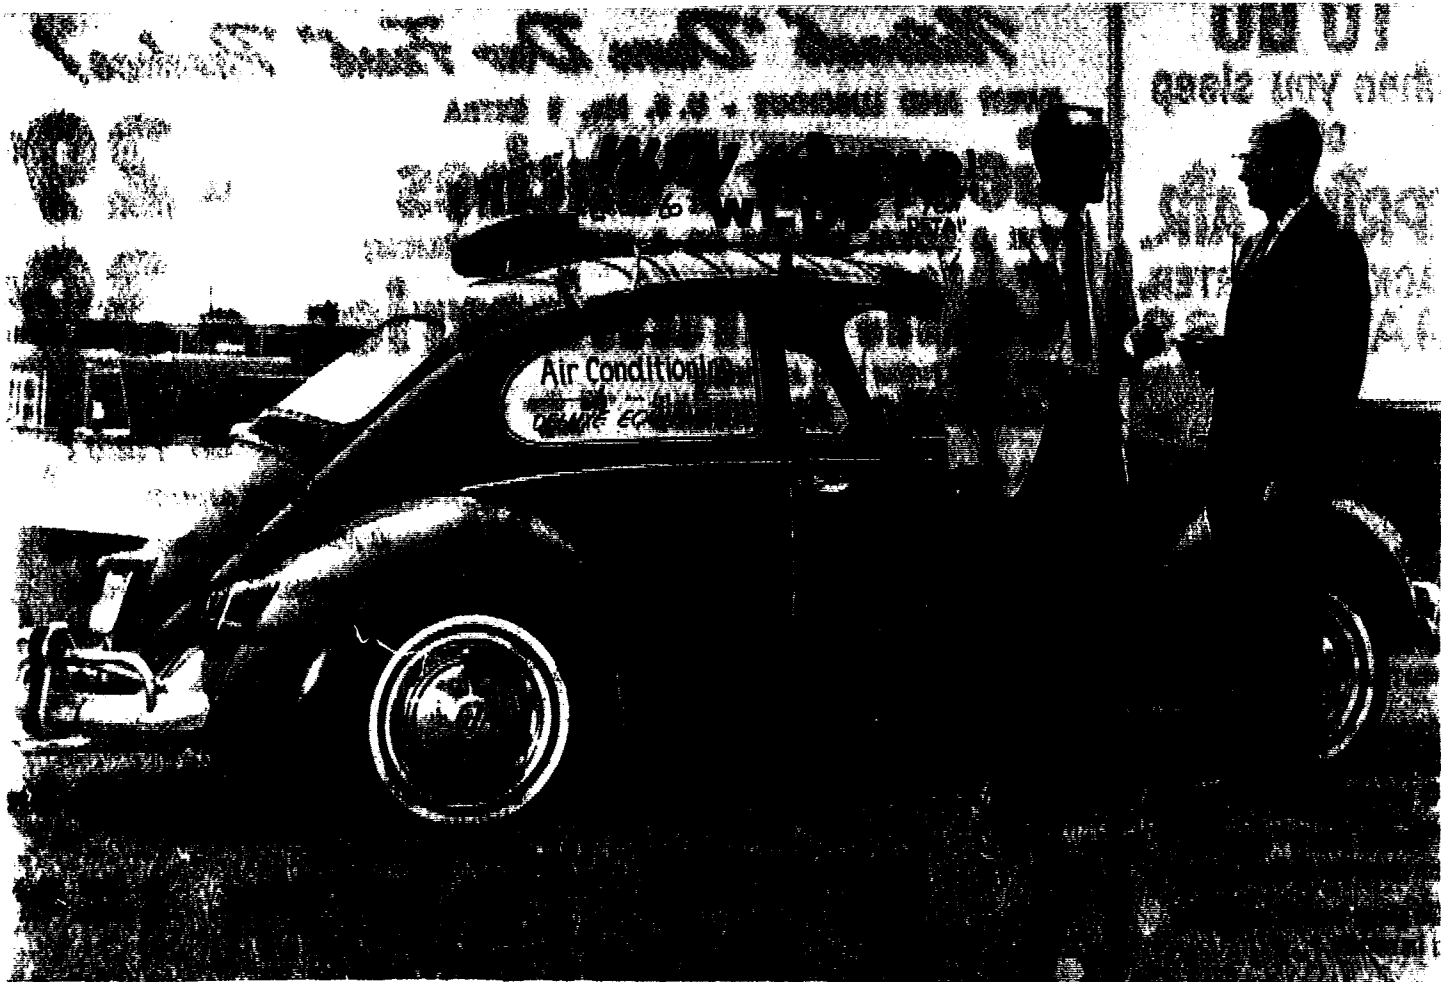

The bride wore a white or-gandy cage dress with embroidered bodice topping the empire waistline of the full length skirt. Her blusher veil of illusion billowed from a satin petal head-dress. She carried blue tipped white carnations, daisies and gardenias.

Miss Sharon Alusow wore conventional length lemon yellow bonded crepe with a veiled bow headpiece. Her flowers were much like the bride's bouquet, without the gardenias.

The mother of the bride wore a poudre blue Chanel suit with blue accessories and the groom's mother chose a beige costume. Each wore gardenias. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where her sister, Mrs. Diane MacMurray College and is a teacher at Palatine, Illinois. The groom is a student at the College.

After a short trip to St. Louis, Missouri the couple took residence at 1334 South East street. The bride graduated from MacMurray College and is a teacher at Palatine, Illinois. The groom is a student at the College.

FINDING THE WAY

Creed for All Americans: To Walk Humbly with God

Dr. Loew

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
This is the irony of our time: We know how to communicate. Having radio, television, even Telstar;

With public relations experts, Skillful artisans at making our name as glittering As that sparkling gothic dome.

And yet, in all too many places of this world, We seem to fail and so must know, America is not loved!

This is the frustration of our time:

For we want to be loved We are those who like to be liked.

It has been our joy to meet So many of the world's people who visit us

And we have eagerly even naively, asked:

"How do you like us?" It puzzles and now gnaws at us that America is feared!

This is the challenge of our time:

The ancient dream of a free people

Is threatened by a multitude Of events, all confused and complicated. Yet we remember George Washington insisting

That, there is a "union between virtue and happiness." We would not be a power-mad people,

We would be humble, not arrogant, knowing that America is still an unimagined promise!

This is the hope of our time: That we renew the dream, Possessing the nerve to fail At keeping the resolve to serve meekness

Before we stumble with a boastful anger.

Once more we now resolve not to "meanly lose This last best hope of earth."

To be in our integrity as well as in our fabled land America the Beautiful!

This is the prayer of our time: To know that higher patriotism—

"To live for principles as bravely as we fight for them."

We pray that in this revolutionary time

We may continue the courage to love mercy, To do justly and to walk humbly with our God.

Then shall others see in us that for which we strive— America, a blessing for all mankind!

Mike Garrison UN Pilgrimage Contest Winner

Mike Garrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Garrison of 967 North Prairie street and a student at Jacksonville High School, was named winner of the annual United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth contest, sponsored by the local Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges.

Mike Garrison

Steve with 35 other students from high schools in Illinois left Springfield June 20 for a two week trip to New York City and the United Nations.

They will stop en route at Indianapolis and various other points including Gettysburg where they will tour the battlefield. On Thursday they will visit the Bureau of Engraving, the White House, Supreme Court, Library of Congress, Washington Monument and the National Archives, all in Washington, D.C. At Arlington, Virginia they will visit the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and the grave of President John F. Kennedy.

They will arrive in New York City June 25 and spend the next six days at the U.N. Headquarters where they will attend U.N. sessions and have an opportunity to view committees in action.

They will be guests of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of New York City for an evening at Radio City Music Hall and a trip around Manhattan Island by boat.

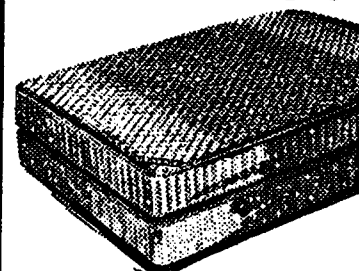

The group will leave New York City July 1 returning home via Plymouth, Mass., Boston, Niagara Falls, Dearborn, Mich. arriving at the New Odd Fellow Children's Home, Lincoln, Illinois July 6th where they will enjoy supper and be met for their return trips to the home.

Three counselors from Illinois Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges will accompany the group on the trip.

More than 1,000 young people, seven large groups each week from throughout the United States and Canada, will participate in pilgrimages during the summer of 1967.

Midwest Crisis

WHITE HALL — Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Griswold, and Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Kesinger were hosts on Monday night to the members of the Couples Club of the United Presbyterian Church. Forty guests attended and were served a fried chicken supper. Tables were decorated in miniature brides and bridegrooms.

The devotions "Biblical account of the Middle East Crisis" were given by L. V. Kinser, and Stanley Thomas showed historical pictures of White Hall, spanning an era from 1900 to the present time.

The next meeting will be in September with Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McConathy, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Ray, Mrs. Ruby Ring and Mrs. Clyde Hubbard hosts for the evening.

White Hall Notes

Mrs. Judson Hoover of Milton visited her sister, Mrs. H. B. Anderson, during the week. She stopped en route from a conducted tour of points of interest in Mexico. She took tour with a group of members of the Ligon family gathered for a family reunion in Montgomery, Alabama.

"Holy Toga!" Latin Students Eat In Bare Feet

Traditional Banquet Goes Modern

By ANDREA HEISS

Feasting at "Vergil's-A-Go-Go" in the upper left picture are, l-r, Rosie Warren, Jamesetta Woods, and Steve Crow. About a dozen slaves assisted at the banquet by serving the food. These students were unable to eat until everyone else had finished.

In the top center picture are, l-r, Gary Clark, Harold Geuther, Karen Rexroat, and Kevin Leffler. The three boys came to the banquet as Roman gods and are being served by a banquet slave. Harold Geuther is dressed as Pluto, God of the Underworld, and is appropriately wielding his three-pronged sceptre.

At top right gods and goddesses Andy Symons, Eric Rammelkamp, Andrea Heiss, and Barbara Hamm are toasting Bacchus, God of the Vine.

Directly above is Becky Wegehoff who, with Sheryl Grant, Though Vergil's "Arma virumque cano" and Caesar's War Commentaries were the underlying tones of the annual Latin banquet, joviality (Jove) reigned. The students attended the dinner in Roman togas, helmets, crowns, and both sandals and bare feet.

Second, third, and fourth year Latin students rejoice near the end of the year, for this is the time for feasts. Students in the third and fourth year class may choose any second year Latin student as their personal slave for the week preceding the Latin banquet. If the "slave" refuses to follow the commands of his master, he may be suitably punished at the banquet. The majority of personal slaves can be easily recognized during Latin week because of posters which are hung around the slave's neck. They generally read, "I am the most humble, patient slave of my most worthy master."

Banquet slaves, who are second year students selected by the advanced Latin class, must perform all the menial chores during the feast: these students must serve the food and then carry finger bowls to the guests between every course.

Why finger bowls and towels? No eating utensils, such as spoons, forks, and knives, are present at the banquet table. However, an imaginative Latin entertained the students as go-go girls at the banquet.

Center right are Latin slaves Karen Tomhave, Linda Murphy, Nancy Bousquet, and Kathy Bradshaw patiently awaiting the commands of their masters.

At lower left Jim Carlet is addressing a robot in the skit "Lost in Space" or "Pergama Place," which entertained the guests. The third and fourth year Latin class, which traditionally manages the banquet, was divided in groups. Each group presents an original parody or farce.

Clad as a Roman orator, John Bellatti performs as a "roamin'" player in the lower right picture.

student soon adjusts to this situation by reverting to the primitive practice of eating with his hands. Since this can become rather messy, though, the finger bowl is a necessity.

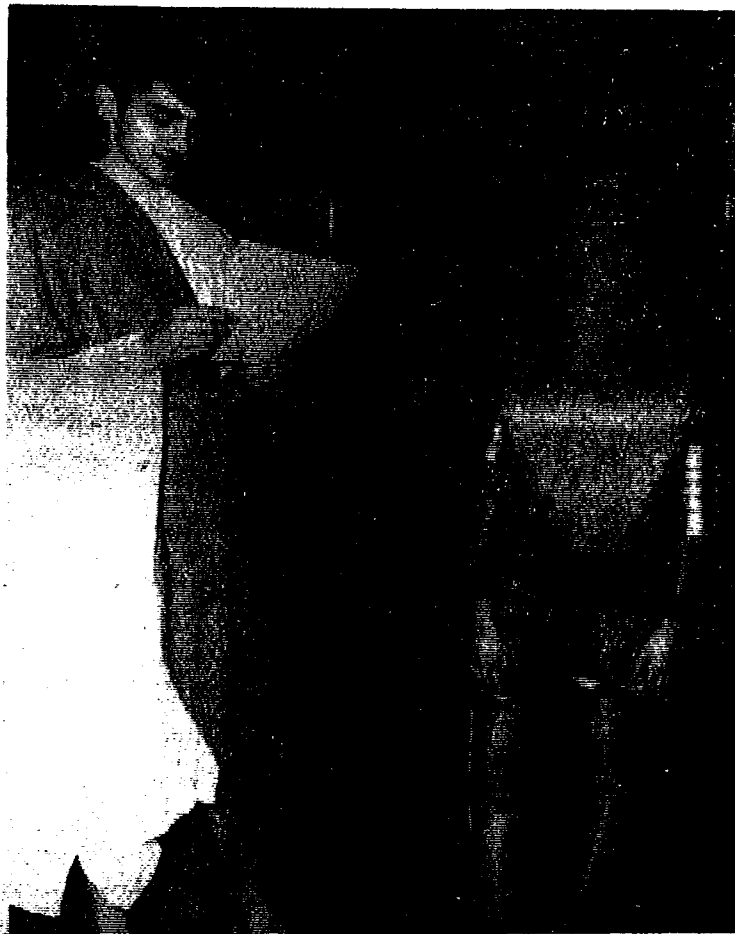

The sacrifice is another time-honored tradition. This year three Latin students offered a stuffed pig to the Roman gods. This pig was ingeniously comprised of paper mache and shaped by a concealed balloon.

Because this year's theme was "Vergil's-A-Go-Go," the walls were decorated with sizzling red, orange, and yellow patterns inspired by Vergil's Aeneid.

The banquet itself consisted of several courses. The first course included shrimp, deviled eggs, sardines, herrings, and perch. Each person was also given one-half of a chicken, corn on the cob, hot bread, and honey. Wedges of lettuce, cucumbers, and tomatoes were passed on trays along the long wooden table bordering the room. During this, the banquet slaves were particularly burdened with washing fingers and performing errands. Slices of fresh fruit (cantaloupe, strawberries, oranges, apples, etc.) and cake were served last. Students drank mock wine (in honor of Bacchus) with their dinner.

"This is a project for third and fourth year Latin students for which they write skits, poems, and songs. This enables them to assemble the knowledge which they have gained from Latin and poke a little fun at them," said Mrs. Elma Savage, the sponsor of the Latin banquet and teacher of the third and fourth year Latin class.

Local Industry Aiding Historic State Hospital Workshop Program

More 'Total Treatment' Provided

Newly re-organized 'total treatment programs', one of which originated at the Jacksonville State Hospital, are quickly changing approaches toward curing mental illness.

"We are getting out of the warehouse business," hospital superintendent Dr. Steven Pratt recently stated. "Treatment, teaching and guidance are now the key themes of our work."

Revised Philosophy

Behind this method shift has been a revised philosophy of focusing on a patient's assets and potential abilities, much as a medical hospital considers aspects of physical strength before treating a person's illness.

The revised approach, Pratt stated, "can provide a more total treatment program in which we can better help a patient regain vocational and social skills necessary for a return to self-sufficiency."

The first seed of the fruitful re-organization project in Jacksonville was the previously untried Shelter Workshop Program, begun in the fall of 1965.

Gain Job Experience

This totally new innovation in mental illness treatment provides industrial work shop experience for a limited number of 'discharge patients' on a part-time basis.

At present, 28 patients, four from each of the seven districts served by the hospital, work 8:30 to 11 a.m. Monday thru Friday on projects supplied by local industrial firms.

Hourly wages are recorded, and put into a Patients' Trust Fund for payment upon release. Patient - employees aid in this bookkeeping work.

Meeting Dual Goal

Enhancing the program's goal of increasing patients' responsibility in action and skills is the practice of appointing and giving increased pay to patient-foremen.

The Shelter Workshop Program, augmented by a voluntary afternoon program to further aid social re-adjustment, has gained so numerous evidences of success that like projects are presently being planned at five other state hospitals in Illinois.

Firms Honored

Enabling this success has been the cooperation of three local businesses, which not only made the program a reality, but also, in Vocational Rehabilitation Supervisor Daniel Safier's words, "have proved, through continued support, that it could work."

Mobil Chemical Company (Kordite), Rutland Inc., and New Method Book Bindery, the three employers, were honored last week at an awards luncheon.

Kordite, the first employer, began supplying factory work in the fall of 1965. In early 1966, Rutland, Inc. contracted for the labeling of cans, while New Method has more recently provided mailing work.

Applauds Program

In accepting a special golden award in recognition of Mobil Chemical company's "history-making cooperation", regional manager Walter Sether applauded the hospital's work, and encouraged other firms to help bring the program's benefits to more patients.

"Today, some of our best customers are receiving products packaged by patients of this institution. During peak periods, some of these same patients work in our plant alongside our regular employees, without incident and without comment."

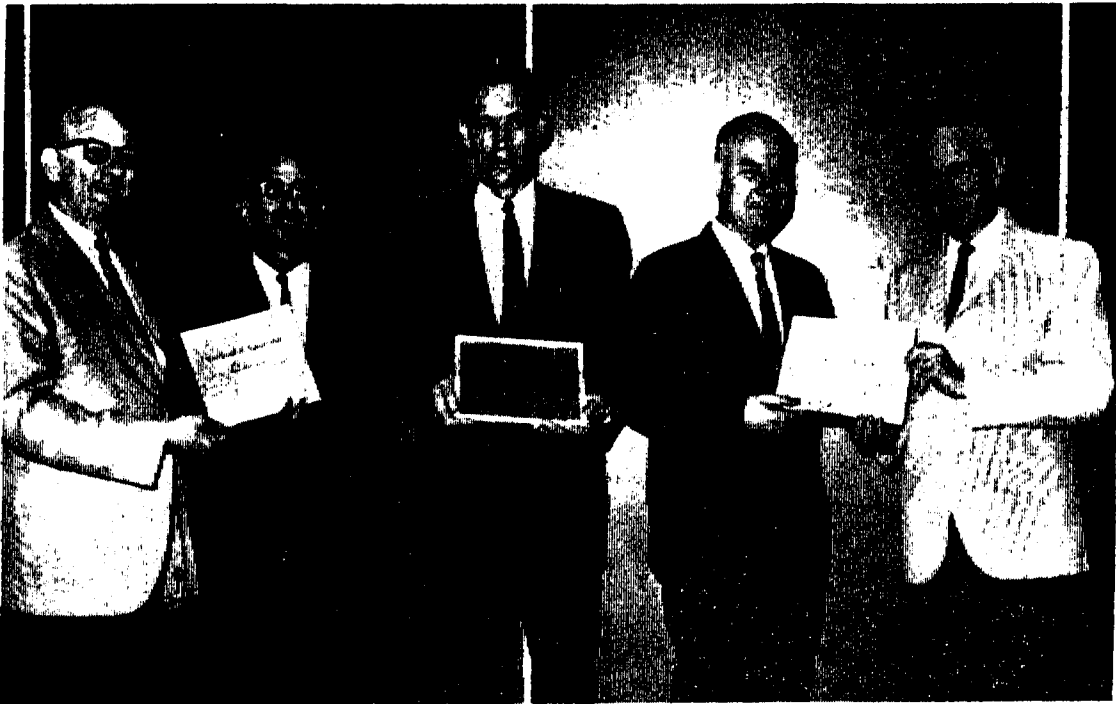

"Private industry serves its own interests and the interests of society by actively supporting programs such as the Workshop here at Jacksonville," Sether continued.

Work Lies Ahead

Yet, as Dr. Pratt emphasized, and Sether seconded, work toward a 'total treatment program' has just begun.

Sether concluded: "We all know that some noteworthy gains have been made in recent years in the care and treatment of the mentally ill. But, as a businessman, I measure progress with two yardsticks."

"The first is how far have we gone; and the second is how far we still have to go. By the first measure, our mental institutions, it seems to me, have made considerable progress. By the second they have little cause for self-congratulations and no cause for relaxation."

THREE LOCAL BUSINESSES were honored last week for their co-operation in making the state hospital's shelter workshop program a success. Shown above (l-r) are: Mayor Byron Holkenbrink, accepting for Rutland, Inc.; Daniel Safier, Vocational Rehabilitation Supervisor; Walter Sether, regional manager, Mobil Chemical Co. plastics division; hospital superintendent Dr. Steven Pratt; and John Chapman, New Method Book Bindery.

PATIENTS at the Jacksonville State Hospital are provided daily, part-time employment in the 18-month-old Shelter Workshop program. Patients shown above are packing Lawn and Leaf Bags made at the Kordite plant, one of the program's three employers.

THE COMPLETE PACKAGING service rendered by the shelter workshop program also includes construction of the shipping cartons. Once filled, all boxes are inspected by hospital staff members.

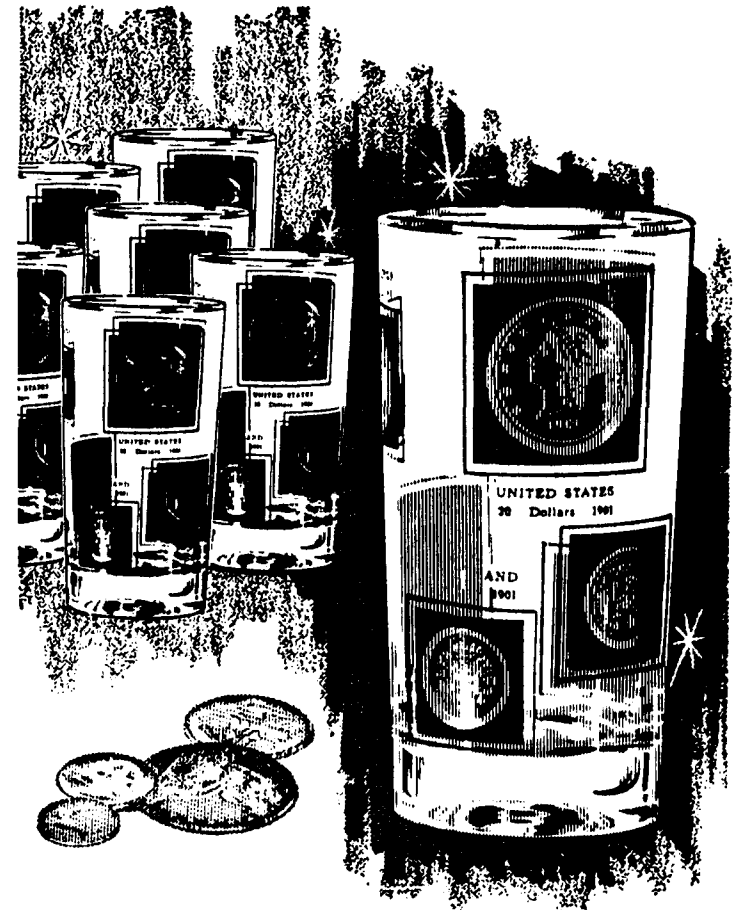

THE FINAL OPERATION under the Kordite contract is stacking boxes for later return to the plant. Patient-employees have also been contracted for mailing work, and can labeling by New Method and Rutland, Inc. Hope has been voiced that more employers will provide tasks for the workshop to enable increased benefits to an expanded number of 'discharge patients'.

High-Quality Beef Ration Includes Chopped Alfalfa, Oats

IT 'TIS CLAIMED that Rome wasn't built in a day, but had those architects had a chance to watch a Harvester going up, it might have been a different story.

Tuesday, Bob Leinberger of Petersburg, Harvester representative, and Glen Green of the Rudy-Glen Farms Inc., south of Pisgah, put on a feed-lot demonstration at the farm.

Implement dealers from Murrayville, Riggston, and Greenfield, representing Allis-Chalmers, John Deere, New Holland, Fox, and New Idea supplied most of the machinery for the operation.

The operation, which utilized several thousands of dollars in equipment, consisted of cutting oats and alfalfa, chopping it, and then blowing it into the Harvester silos.

Also, on hand was a five man Harvester crew from Eureka, who were erecting a 60 x 20 silo, to complete the cluster of five for the farm.

Glen Green said that the farm is feeding from 1200 to 1300 head of Herefords and trying to reach a 1000 to 1050 pound per weight per steer in a 90 to 120 day period on 120 acres of alfalfa. Green, puffing on a cigar, explained that the farm is presently into its second cutting of alfalfa.

He also pointed out that three of the Harvesters contain haylage, and the others, one each of oatlage and shelled corn. The Harvester construction crew expected to be completed with the erection of the silo by that afternoon, after starting about 1:30 p.m. the previous day.

One of the boys said that he and a crew of five can put a 60 x 20 Harvester, or one of similar size, up in about 10 hours, excluding the base. The construction of the steel and fused glass structure is done by compressed-air jacks, and in fact all of the work, except handling, is done by air. The sections are raised into position by a device using air-pressure, then tightened with an air-wrench.

When one of the rings is completed, the entire structure is raised by the air-jack. This process continued until the final ring is completed, and then supporting bands are put into place around the outside of the silo. It's all so simple.

In the above pictures (left) Leinberger (left) and Green examine the freshly cut alfalfa, some of which had been cut the night before. The feed cut the previous day contained too much moisture, and had to be re-cut to get the best results out of the choppers. The newest Harvester, seen right front, has one of the new features of the silo, the white top to lower heat in the interior of the structure.

Center picture shows Green still working on the same cigar, talking with Vernon Becker of Franklin, who was hauling the chopped alfalfa to the Harvesters. In the last photograph, Fred Henige of Riggston and the Gordon Implement company, keeps a close watch on the unloading process into one of the two blowers in operation.

Illinois Farm OUTLOOK

OUTLOOK FOR BEEF CATTLE IMPROVES

Prices of beef cattle crept up a dollar or two in April and May. It was about time for some price advance, since the market had been depressed for an unusually long period. We expect further price advances during the next few months—though we do not advise holding finished cattle with the expectation that prices will move up quickly.

Looking back, we see that all major price-making forces in the cattle market were on the price-depressing side during most of 1966 and in early 1967. For 15 months now, beef output has been at a record level—averaging 6 percent more than 12 months earlier.

During the past 8 months, pork output topped year-before levels by 17 percent. (The January output was up one-third from the 1966 volume!)

Poultry production was 10 percent greater in 1966 than in 1965—and there has been a further increase this year.

Imports of meats also increased in 1966 but they still made up only about 4 percent of our total supply of red meats and poultry.

Demand Slack
Consumer demand for meat was not as strong as it might have been. Although only a few housewives staged public protests about prices, many became especially price conscious. In addition, a group of important segments in the economy have been in a recession of sorts for several months.

Looking ahead, some of these price-making forces should become price-lifting in the next few months. Beef output is expected to level-off or decrease during the remainder of this year. The movement of cattle into the Corn Belt has dropped off in recent months. Pork output will be seasonally low in July and August, and may shrink below year-before figures next fall and winter. Low broiler prices have discouraged further expansion of production, for a while at least. Meat imports into the United States may be restricted by reduced supplies in exporting countries and by stronger demands in other importing areas. Consumers seem to be stepping up their spending for some things, and this trend may provide some added support for beef prices.

While none of these factors July 3 at the home of Mrs. alone is very impressive, two: Robert Headen.

or more of them working together could give cattle prices a good lift. There is no reason to expect any great shortage of beef—unless ranchers and farmers hold back large numbers of heifers to increase breeding herds. According to official estimates there were 85.6 million beef cattle and calves on farms and ranches at the first of this year—1 percent more than a year before. Steers numbered 12.7 million—the same as the previous year. Heifers were listed at 9.2 million—up 3 percent; calves at 27.3 million—up 1 percent.

Back on April 1 the number of cattle on feed (in 32 states) was estimated at 10.5 million—3 percent more than a year earlier. Most of the increase consisted of heavy cattle. Shipments of stockers and feeders into the Corn Belt in April totaled 388,000—17 percent less than last year.

Ridiculous Situation

(From the National Farmers Union Washington Newsletter)

While Congress waits around for the U.S. Tariff Commission to do something about the unimpeded flow of dairy imports, the Agriculture Department is busy buying up enough cheese and butter to prop prices up to support levels.

USDA had invested $156 million in stored dairy products by June 2nd, in effect using this money to subsidize foreign products. Big processing firms, meanwhile, are stockpiling the cheap imports for future use (nice subsidy for them, too).

As of June 2, USDA had uncommitted stocks of 140.7 million pounds of butter and 64.8 million pounds of cheese. On the same date a year ago, it held neither cheese nor butter in inventory.

Mrs. Mawson Hosts 4-H Club

The Domestic Dandies 4-H club met recently at the home of Mrs. Dale Mawson with Jalene Mawson serving as presiding officer.

Appearing on the program for the day were Mary Headen, Nancy Maurer, Jan Mason, Kathy Archer, Jalene Mawson and Janet Strubbe.

The next meeting will be held while none of these factors July 3 at the home of Mrs. alone is very impressive, two: Robert Headen.

Ashland Youth Named FFA State Farmer

ASHLAND — A member of the Ashland chapter, Future Farmers of America, received the State Farmer degree at the annual convention held recently in Urbana. He is Dale Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle T. Taylor of route 1, Pleasant Plains.

Dale Taylor

A graduate of Ashland High School, he was active in FFA all four years and served the chapter as secretary his senior year. His farming program included a herd of 10 registered Angus cows, swine, corn and garden and received the chapter award in Livestock Farming and Beef Production his junior and senior year. He also received the crop specialty award and in 1965 was the Section 14 winner in garden and placed in the district competition. While a member of the dairy judging team, he received second place individual in Section 14 both in 1965 and 1966, and received an "A" rating on the state level.

In high school, his activities included Freshman Class Secretary, Junior play cast stage manager for the senior class play, Echo yearbook staff, manager of the Basketball Team and Letterman's club. He has also been very active in 4-H Club work, both in the Berea Ag 4-H club and the Morgan County Federation. As a member of the Ashland Methodist church, he has served as youth representative to the official Board, a member of the MYF and the Youth Choir.

He will be a sophomore at Illinois State University at Normal next fall.

4-H CLUB MEETS AT BEREA CHURCH

The Berea Ladies met June 20 at the Berea Church with Georgiann Hibbs presiding. Nancy Jarvis and Georgiann Hibbs gave demonstrations. Talks were given by Rita Ralchiff, Nancy Jarvis, and Diane Farmer.

Local achievement will be at 2 p.m. Friday, July 14 at Berea Church. County achievement will be July 20. The next meeting will be Tuesday, June 27 at 7:30 p.m.

Expects Strong Beef And Pork Returns Now Through Fall

Prices for most classes of red meat animals have perked up considerably and should continue strong through the fall, says a University of Illinois livestock marketing economist.

Emer E. Broadbent points to higher slaughter cattle prices, improved but spotty pasture conditions, smaller numbers of feeder cattle and increased feedlot capacity as factors strengthening the price of feeder cattle.

Cattle prices have improved despite a continued large rate of cattle slaughter and a continued high level of beef production. Broadbent notes. Cattle market volume dropped from slaughter was about 6 to 8 percent greater in April and May, April to 1,018,000 for the first week indicated by the April 1 intentions and marketings of fed cattle. And the rate of slaughter this summer will probably continue higher than last year.

Higher average weights and a greater number of slaughtered beef continue to keep beef production high. Average weights of cattle slaughtered under federal inspection was 1,050 pounds, 20 pounds more than a year ago. And there is a wider price margin between grades. Choice steers at Chicago averaged $26.18 for the first week in June — the highest price since September, 1966.

Heavier Carcasses

Some basic adaptations in weights marketed also are occurring in the beef industry. Broadbent says. Some chain stores, for example, are now handling 50-pound larger carcasses for steers (650/750) and for heifers (500/600).

Peak Passed?

We may already have reached the peak hog price for 1967, Broadbent says. Previous price projections anticipated a Chicago top of about $25 by the first of July, but the heavy rains and delayed planting season tended to create an abnormal cutback in hog numbers moving from farms.

Watch for an erratic gyrations in hog prices varying between $23 and $25 through mid-August. Broadbent warns. This situation should be followed by a general price decline of about $3 by year end.

4-H Livestock Judges In Urbana Tuesday

Illinois 4-H members from all sections of the state will be in Urbana Tuesday to compete in the annual livestock judging contest.

Morgan county will be represented by a team headed by Tom Burrus of the Victor Ag club.

The team members were chosen April 1 at a regional contest held at the state fairgrounds in Springfield.

The local squad chosen then on the basis of individual scoring was: Burrus, Dean Cantrell and Dale Heaton of the Urbana or Kings & Queens. Murrayville, Kings & Queens. Bob Armstrong and Bob De-

Reluctance to Talk Sex Not Necessarily Unhealthy

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: After reading about that young man in your column who had to get himself "professional" sex instruction, I realized that my 15-year-old boy needs it. He's quite changed lately and constantly asks me questions about sex I don't know how to answer.

I don't want to mislead or confuse him. Yet I'm quite worried about him in regard to sex because of the kind of questions he keeps asking me.

ANSWER: No father around, eh? All right. Have him see your family doctor. Ask your doctor to invite those questions which have been put to you.

And don't you dare jump to the conclusion that there's something "bad" or "prudish" or "inhibited" in your reluctance to answer them.

If the Freudian "experts" have to damn all such reluctance in us as "inhibited" prudery, let's let them do it to their hearts' content. It doesn't make their judgment right. They've just been trained to think in absurdly simplistic terms, to root all human feeling in one or two feelings. So it does not have to be "prudery" in us which makes us squirm at sex questions pushed at us by a 15-year-old son. We can squirm out of respect for a maturing sexuality in him which we sense we've no right to interfere with. It can be our feminine awareness that the answers should come from a trustworthy man. I couldn't be happier than I am to understand children's need for sex instruction. I also couldn't get madder than I do at the wholesale, Freudian assumption that there's something awfully wrong with us if we don't feel like giving it to them.

I've said it before and I say it again. For decent grownups sex is not sex mechanics.

Thus, when our boys and girls ask us questions about those mechanics, we can feel squirmy for most decent reasons. In absolute opposition to what these one-track-minded "experts" say, we can squirm, not out of prudery but out of deep and most tender appreciation of sexuality. As grownups who have loved, we know how sex mechanics are transformed by feeling—so transformed that we feel absolutely helpless to communicate anything meaningful about sex mechanics to the child who's still incapable of love.

The Sex Information and Education Council of the United States (SEIUS) recommends as a fine book on adolescent sexuality "Love and Sex in Plain Language" by Eric W. Johnson (Lippincott, $3.50). It's for you, not the boy. The man, the doctor, deals with the boy.

H. St. John Ingram of Kent, England, writes with typical British understatement, "Here is a rubber bridge hand of considerable interest. West's queen of diamonds held the first trick and his jack the second. East king into declarer's ace-queen made an error. He should have shifted to the king of hearts, the hand. On the other hand the of diamonds and the only hope for the defense was to collect either two heart tricks or one heart and one trump. Anyway, West led another diamond. Declarer ruffed and played ace and ten of trumps. His idea was to win the expected heart return, cash two clubs ruff a low club, enter dummy with a club at jack of trumps and discard both heart losers on the last two clubs.

CASUALTIES — SAIGON — Spokesmen here reported that 143 U.S. servicemen were killed in combat last week (ending June 17), raising the dead toll for the war to 11,099. Last week also saw 953 Americans wounded. Sixteen were reported missing.

"East was no fool and led a trump right back. Declarer could only discard one heart and lost four tricks.

"Declarer made his error at trick four. His first trump lead should have been the ten. This would leave a sure extra entry to dummy and he would have made the hand in spite of failure of either black suit to break evenly."

We can't agree with Mr. Ingram's criticism of West's failure to lead a heart since we can visualize lots of situations where he would be dropping the king into declarer's ace-queen of how South should have played the hand. On the other hand the suggested play is one of those safety plays that don't appeal to us. It would be suicide against a 5-1 club break and singleton queen of spades, as an example.

We sort of favor a compromise play. South should cash have changed significantly since the nation's birth in the 1948 partition of Palestine. The United Nations partition plan, accepted by Israel but rejected by the Arabs, split the territory equally between the new Jewish state and Arabs with Jerusalem internationalized. In the first Arab-Israeli war that followed, Israel gained considerable ground, including Jerusalem's New City. Jordan held the historic Old City. In the 1956 round, the Syrian and Jordanian fronts remained quiet while Israel overran Egypt's Sinai Peninsula. She withdrew after international assurances that included open navigation of the Gulf of Aqaba, commanded by the Egyptian strongpoint of Sharm El Sheikh. Egypt's blockade of the gulf touched off the latest clash. Israel again occupies Sinai plus all of Jerusalem and large chunks of Jordan and Syria. This time she indicates she intends to hold on to key points.

Tourists Eye Hippies

Psychedelicatessen Keeps Food Hidden

By JOHN VINOCUR
NEW YORK (AP) — The Psychedelicatessen opens for breakfast about noon and although it would seem painfully square to do anything so quiet and reasonable, queuing up outside are four New York hippies. There is Sid the Girl, Groover in his buckskin leggings, barefoot Krina, and Jimmy in his grease-stained buccaneer outfit, a bent paper clip threaded through his right ear like Mr. Clean.

They go in past the tourists, sniff at the shop's incense stock and after a proper interval get at the mystery question. Where's the food? It is asked softly because the Psychedelicatessen has no license to sell food and Swede, the owner, says the whole notion would terribly upset the fuzz.

This is Avenue A and Eighth Street, once the East Side melting pot and now a thoroughfare in the city's hippie turf. Some sightseeing buses have put it on their itinerary between the Stock Market and Chinatown. Depending on the traveler's viewpoint, it promises a sad freakshow or an enclave of hope and adventure.

Today, breakfast is half-hidden behind the counter—five or six cartons of milk and a brown paper bag splitting with onion rolls. It is out of sight of the tourists who come into the Psychedelicatessen for LSD-inspired art, joss sticks, posters of swamis and Allen Ginsberg, Kleenex and a hundred other hip accessories.

Swede, an old-timer who remembers the days when he was just a beatnik, sets out breakfast for free. He says it is mainly for the baby hippies, the teenage runaways who are just getting into the East Village scene. They are trying to save their milk and roll money for marijuana and LSD. Swede approves such thrift.

Cathy, his salesgirl, is not so charitable. Despite her African print bloomer suit, she can get very middle class about things like an arrest in the store that might disturb the tourists. She figures Jimmy as cop bait. He is 16 and has a face that invites frisking.

"Go on, get the hell out," Cathy says. Jimmy exits onto Avenue A.

About the same time, a man with an Indian feather in his hair and a woman with an Apache sweatband wrapped around her forehead are entering a commercial building five blocks away from the Psychedelicatessen. They are older than Jimmy, have figured out how to get their own breakfast, and now spend the days in their tribal home, a loft where about 30 senior hippies have banded together for a unified, totally apolitical communal life.

Most have dropped like arrows from the middle class and consider themselves the fulfillment of an Indian prophecy that the Shoshone nation one day would be reincarnated as white men.

There is an intertribal council, an intertribal newsletter and a system of tithes on the owners of hippie shops like the Psychedelicatessen for a tribal defense fund. The money is needed because hippies keep getting arrested on drug charges and because they have no desire to turn off drugs, expect more arrests.

"There is no way around it, baby," says Karen. Marijuana, LSD, hashish and a new hallucinatory chemical—named STP by Hell's Angels—are the glue, essence and common denominator of all shades of hippie life.

In four nights there, I saw nothing especially groovy or shocking happening, nothing like the time they tell of when everybody started to hum at once and so perfectly on pitch that the walls shook and a waiter from the Chinese restaurant downstairs came up to complain, tongue-tied with exasperation.

For that matter, I saw nothing as ecstatic in its way as a Jewish wedding or an Irish wake, and nothing as frightening and sad as a bitter argument between a middle-class husband and wife.

Law Degree

JERSEYVILLE — Norbert J. Goetten, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goetten of Jerseyville, received a Juris Doctor Degree in Law from John Marshall Law School at the commencement exercises held at the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago. He attended the evening division at John Marshall for four years. He had received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Administration from Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, Ill. in 1962 and is presently employed as a bank-examiner in the office of the Commissioner of Banks and Trust Companies in Chicago.

Attending the commencement exercises, which was preceded by a dinner for the graduates and their families at the Shoreland Hotel, were the graduate's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goetten, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fraley, Mr. and Mrs. William Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Goetten, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Goetten, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Goetten.

The commencement address was given by Adlai E. Stevenson, III, State treasurer. After the commencement exercises the family and friends were entertained in Mr. Goetten's Oak Park apartment.

BLUFFS AREA
SOCIAL ITEMS

BLUFFS — Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lovekamp and family were in Chicago Wednesday, accompanying their son and daughter-in-law Pfc. and Mrs. David Lovekamp, back to that city after a month's visit here. Mrs. Lovekamp returned to her nursing duties and David to army duty in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ranft and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gilman spent a few days in the Ozarks.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mains attended graduation ceremonies at Washburn University in Topeka, Kansas recently when their son-in-law, Richard Hayes received his law degree. He will take his Illinois bar examination in Chicago later this summer and will be employed in Peoria.

Miss Judy Royston of St. Charles, Missouri is a house guest of the Earl Albers family. She recently received her degree at SIU. Mr. and Mrs. Albers, Denny Albers and Jim Traw attended the exercises.

Mrs. Mike Magill has joined her husband, who is stationed at Fort Bragg, N.C.

LIONS PRESIDENT—Jim Holtschlag (C), new president of the Jacksonville Lions Club, is shown receiving the symbolic gavel of office from retiring president Floyd Hess. Mr. Holtschlag was installed into office by District IG governor, John Savoie, also a member of the Jacksonville club. Other officers are Ray Wells, first vice-president; Ray Wohlfleet, second vice-president; Dean Strubbe, third vice-president; Leland Ogle, treasurer; Tom Svob, secretary; Darwin Clupper, tail-twister; Dick Meldrum, Lion tamer; Board members, Bob Rueck and Keith Schuman, one year; Dick Curtis and Lawrence Taylor, two years.

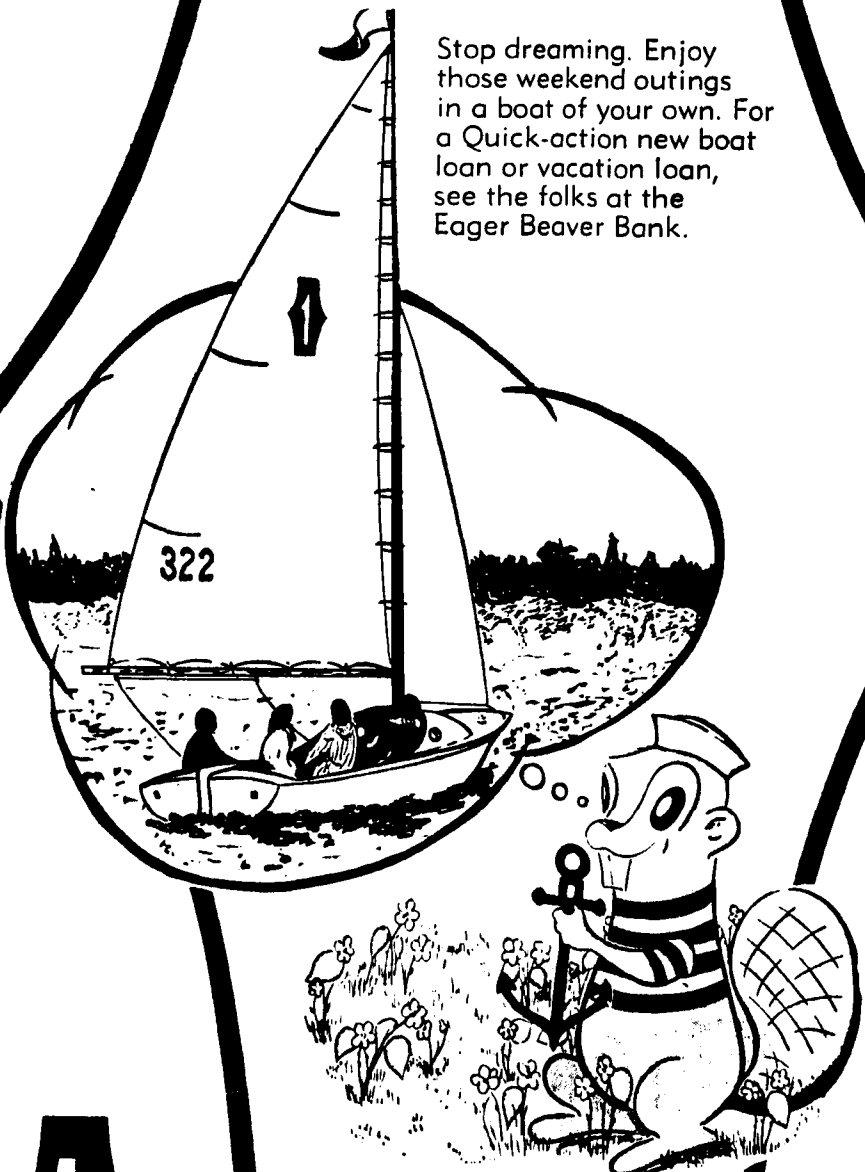

AMVETS POST 100 of Jacksonville received second place in the statewide contest for membership as well as point standings within the Amvets organization. Jacksonville has 878 members and is the second largest in the state, behind Mt. Vernon with 905. Shown from left: State Commander Robert Showalter, Clifford Upchurch, Post 100 commander; Charles Batley, Clarence P. Siegfried, and John P. Beadles, state senior-vice commander. The presentation was made at a luncheon Friday afternoon.

Nationwide, more homes are heated by natural gas than by any other fuel. Natural gas is automatic, thrifty, clean, silent, and dependable.

It makes sense to convert to natural gas now, during the warm weather, when heating contractors have ample time.

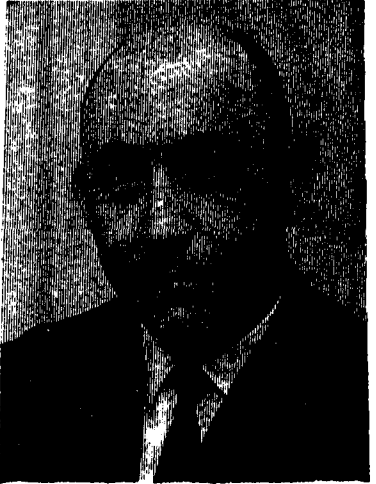

If you would like more information, or have questions about natural gas heat, call these men at 245-4157.

Food Prices to Go Up

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Q—I hear food prices are going up. Is that true?

A—Yes. Average retail food prices are expected to rise more than seasonally this summer if supplies of many livestock products are reduced as now indicated and demands continue strong. This is according to the National Food Situation (May 15) published quarterly by Economic Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture. Average retail food prices in 1967 probably will exceed the 1966 average.

Meat prices are expected to strengthen from first quarter because supplies are expected to be down more than seasonally. Poultry and egg prices will probably increase moderately later in the year. Retail prices for citrus fruits will likely remain relatively low throughout the year. Although retail food prices probably will rise this summer and continue strong in final months of the year, the increase will likely be modest compared with the 5 per cent increase between 1965 and 1966. An increase averaging 1 to 2 per cent is more likely, according to the report.

Q—Aren't eggs very caloric?
A—A large egg contains about 80 to 85 calories, a medium egg about 75 to 80 calories.

CARROLLTON MINISTERS TO EXCHANGE PULPITS

CARROLLTON — Ministers of three Carrollton churches will exchange pulpits this morning as an expression of interdenominational friendship.

The Methodist, Presbyterian and First Baptist churches are involved. Worship will be held at the usual time in each church with a layman presiding. At 9 a.m. at the First Baptist Church, Rev. Phil E. Pierce, Methodist pastor, will have as his topic, "What Is Life's Purpose?"

Based on Psalm 8, Albert Scott, chairman of the board of deacons, will lead the service. Dr. Frank Marston, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, will speak at the Methodist church on "Living With Poise In The Midst of Difficulty." His message will be based on Psalm 46: 10 and Matthew 7: 24-29. Lay leader Floyd Anderson will preside at the 10 a.m. service.

The Rev. J. R. Heikes, Baptist minister, will fill the Presbyterian pulpit while John Boirum serves as moderator. Rev. Heikes' sermon, based on Acts 3, is entitled, "What You Have To Share?" Worship will begin at 10 a.m.

Between You'n' Me

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
SPORTS EDITOR
NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSOCIATION

Best interference Jim my Brown ever got in his life was not run by the Cleveland Browns' offensive line, but Lee Marvin, the star of "The Dirty Dozen" — Brown's latest film opus. While Marvin did all the acting, Brown looked strong, sullen and sometimes menacing — characteristics which were quite natural to him in shoulder pads, too. If he's staked himself out to a movie career, he'll need to show more than he got the chance to in this film. Maybe a tipoff to his future: he's laying off the next three or four months.

Gary Nolan

Robert Aldrich, the director of the picture, is a confirmed football nut. Once, while working on a movie in Europe, he flew specially to San Francisco one weekend so he wouldn't miss an L.A. Ram game against the 49ers.

Gary Nolan, the 19-year-old pitching phenom of the Cincinnati Reds, is so sincere about his self-confidence you don't think of him being cocky — though he sounds it. Mel Harder, his pitching coach, was with Cleveland when Bob Feller, another prodigy, came up to the big leagues in 1936. Harder says Feller was a little faster but Nolan has a better curve ball at the same stage. Informed of Harder's appraisal, Gary added, seriously: "Yeah, and I've got better control of my fast ball than he had, too."

The way Nolan's fast ball explodes on major league hitters, I'd go out and sign those Grass Valley, Calif., high school kids who got seven hits off him in a game a year ago. When Nolan came to San Francisco with the Reds for his first Sunday pitching chore on the West Coast, 400 friends from home town Oroville came down to watch him ("And they were willing to pay for their tickets, too," says Gary). Nolan got bombed. At midnight, he was still wandering around the lobby in a blue funk. Manager Dave Bristol ordered him to go to bed and forget it. "O.K.," nodded Gary, "but I won't let you down next time." And three days later he went out and blanked the Giants.

Nolan, a serious young man, thinks the fact he's married, with one young child and another on the way, gives him purpose. "I have to go out and earn a living for my family," he says. "Therefore, I'm not apt to cut up and horseplay a lot." It no longer bugs pretty Barbara Nicklaus that hubby Jack isn't the darling of the golf galleries despite his Big Game. "When they start yelling for 'Arnie' (Palmer)," she sighs, "you let it go in one ear and out the other. But when the crowd starts clapping for bogeys, I must admit it bothers me."

The modern pace of living: R. H. Sikes, teeing off first on the last day of the U.S. Open, set a new course record when he finished his round in two hours and six minutes. Then he hustled to the airport to catch a plane for Cleveland (where he would defend his Cleveland Open championship), and he got there in time to catch the telecast of Jack Nicklaus winning the same tournament in which Sikes had played that day — in New Jersey!

Ken Macker and Dick Walsh, the commissioners of the rival soccer leagues, both think the major problem facing their new sport is getting the people to come out and look for themselves at a sport which should be crowd-pleasing. They're also both merger-minded to bring a bit of stability to both leagues.

Between you'n' me, Jim Lonborg of the Boston Red Sox has a beat on the rest of the American League in pitching to Mike Epstein. Jim used to face him when he was tossing fast balls for Stanford, and Epstein played for rival California. The Lonborg formula: throw 'em tight across the chest.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — On July 7th and 8th, Baltimore will be blessed with computerized baseball. A van will move into Memorial Stadium, it will raise a black message board into the sky and, presto, Arnold Pinsky will be the man behind the mechanized brains.

Not to be confused, of course, with Arnold Zenker.

This Arnold is an electronics engineer who is operations manager of something called the IBM Sports Information Service. When Boog Powell of the Orioles lines a single to left, Arnold slips a card into a slot in his air-conditioned truck and almost instantaneously lights will flash on the scoreboard:

"Powell's batting average is now .2637 — this was his 63rd hit of the season, the 672nd of his career — he has batted in 41 runs and singled to left seven times in one-out situations in the fifth inning."

You know all kinds of trenchant stuff like that.

The IBM computer-driven scoreboard is the first to show up in the sports arena, and it's not exactly a frothy operation. Before he took over its operation, Pinsky managed the Apollo TV graphics program at Cape Canaveral. He left the space program after that fateful day in January when fire in Apollo 1 took the lives of three astronauts.

Golf was the first sport to benefit from computerized data. Pinsky's portable apparatus was used at the Dallas Open, the Colonial Open and the Memphis Open before it made its first big national splash as an adjunct to the coverage of the recent United States Open.

On detached service at the U.S. Open to help Pinsky feed stuff into the computer was Don Weiss, the public relations director of the National Football League. He sat on the roof of the Baltusrol club house overlooking the 18th green, an open telephone at his elbow.

"Let's have the final scores in today, Arnie," Weiss directed into the phone.

Fifteen seconds later, lighted numerals and letters started to

Rich Canadian Open To Start This Thursday

MONTREAL (AP) — The $200,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship gets under way Thursday with Don Massengale, the defending champion, Jack Nicklaus the favorite and Arnold Palmer the big drawing card.

A field of 156 of the world's best shot makers—including all the U.S. Open and Masters champions from the past 10 years — has been assembled for the tournament that ranks as the fourth oldest in the world.

Nicklaus, whose record-shattering victory in the U.S. Open two weeks ago snapped a season-long slump, is the top-heavy favorite in the tournament that has in recent years been dominated by newcomers.

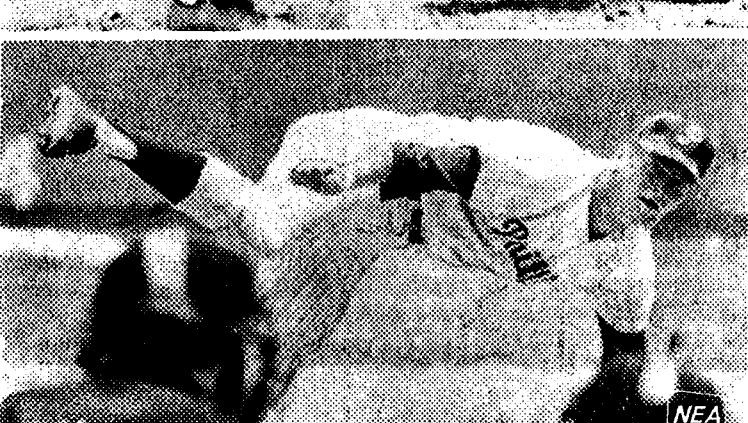

In addition to Palmer, Nicklaus and Bill Casper, other prominent Americans in the field include Sam Snead, a three-time winner of the event, Master champ Gay Brewer, Frank Beard, Doug Sanders, Bert Yanney, Dave Hill, Dan Sikes, Miller Barber and Dave Marr.

Lightning Orphan returned $6 and $2.60 while Diplomat Way was $2.40 to show.

The victory was worth $61,000 to Fager's owner, William L. McKnight of St. Paul, Minn., and boosted his two-year earnings to $254,763.

Dr. Fager, taking a step toward sophomore honors of the year, performed on sloppy going for the first time in his career. The bay son of Rough 'N Tumble took the lead midway in the back stretch, expanded it to four lengths on the turn for home and pulled away at will.

Disciplinarian was fourth, followed by Pointmenow and Suteki. Dr. Fager broke slowly from his No. 1 post position.

EITHER THE photographer or Jim Bunning of the Phillies is in a rut. Judging by Bunning's record, you'd have to say the photographers seem to be fascinated by Bunning's follow-through. These three pictures, taken within a year, show that familiar Bunning style, which is becoming even more familiar.

Robinson Powers 6-4 Cincy Margin

CINCINNATI (AP) — Floyd Robinson cracked a two-run double in the fourth inning, capped a three-run rally and powering the Cincinnati Reds to a 6-4 victory over Pittsburgh Saturday night.

Trailing 4-3 in the fourth, the Reds tied the score on a walk and singles by Jim Coker and Chico Ruiz before Robinson sent them ahead with a double down the left field line.

Rookie Gary Nolan boosted his record to 6-2, with four innings of relief help from Bob Lee, Tommie Sisk, the Pittsburgh starter, took his fifth loss in 10 decisions as the injury-plagued Reds won for only the second time in their last seven starts.

Donn Clendenon's two-run homer gave the Pirates a 2-0 lead in the first inning and they added another in the second.

The Reds got one run back in their half of the first and tied it in the second on Art Shamsky's homer and a run-scoring squeeze bunt by Nolan.

Epstein's Slam Sparks Senators Past Birds, 8-3

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mike Epstein's grand slam homer — in his first time at bat in Baltimore since being traded by the Orioles — led the Washington Senators to an 8-3 victory Saturday night.

The rookie first baseman, who refused to report to the minor leagues before the Orioles dealt him to Washington last month, socked his second 1967 homer after rookie right-hander Bill Dillman walked three consecutive batters in the first inning.

Dillman, now 4-2, allowed two more hits — one of them Frank Howard's 17th homer — before being lifted in the fifth.

Reliever Eddie Fisher failed to retire a batter as Washington scored three more runs in the eighth. Singles by Cap Peterson and Epstein, and a run-scoring single by Paul Casanova finished Fisher. Ken McMullen singled off Eddie Watt for two more runs.

Winner Camilo Pascual, with 2-3 innings of relief help from Bob Humphreys, brought his record to 7-4.

REPORT CARNERA DYING
SEQUALS, Italy (AP) — Former world heavyweight boxing champion Primo Carnera is reported dying in this northern Italian town.

The Italian champion, who returned from the United States to his native village last month, has been in a coma for two days and only his strong constitution has prolonged his life.

Doctors told newsmen Saturday, Carnera, suffering from cirrhosis of the liver, is still in the villa he bought when he was one of the most famous fighters in the world.

Javier And Gibson Spark 2-1 Victory

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Julian Javier's two-run single and Bob Gibson's tight pitching carried the National League-leading St. Louis Cardinals to a 2-1 victory over Philadelphia Saturday, running the Cardinals' winning streak to seven games.

Javier rapped his decisive single off right-hander Larry Jackson in the second inning after Orlando Cepeda's infield hit, an error by second baseman Tony Taylor and a walk to Mike Shannon filled the bases.

The Phils scored in the seventh on Rich Allen's triple and a single by Bill White

Gibson, running his pitching record to 9-5, allowed six hits and struck out eight. He has beaten the Phillies 13 times in 17 lifetime decisions.

Santo, Jenkins Pace Cubs, 3-2

CHICAGO (AP) — Ron Santo's two-run homer in the fourth inning and the six-hit pitching of Ferguson Jenkins carried the Chicago Cubs to a 3-2 victory over the Houston Astros Saturday.

The second game of the scheduled doubleheader was postponed because of darkness and will be played as part of a twin bill Sunday.

Jenkins, gaining his ninth victory against five defeats, struck out 11 and didn't allow an earned run. Both of Houston's runs came in the sixth after Jenkins dropped a throw covering first base.

An infield single by Rusty Staub and a walk to Eddie Matthews loaded the bases before Ron Davis doubled home two runs with two out.

Chicago took a 1-0 lead in the second inning on a double by Ernie Banks and a single by Randy Hundley. In the fourth, Billy Williams walked with one out before Santo slugged his 12th homer.

Hargan Records Ninth Victory As Tribe Wins 3-2

BOSTON (AP) — Steve Hargan fashioned his ninth victory with a six hitter Saturday night, in hurling Cleveland to a 3-2 decision over Boston.

Hargan, who has lost six, was in full command after being nicked for an unearned run in the first inning. He struck out seven and his only walk was intentional.

The Indians picked up a run in the first when Boston pitcher Darrell Brandon hit a batter with the bases loaded. Leon Wagner accounted for the second run, leading off the third with his 12th homer.

Cleveland shelled Brandon on Max Alvis' run-scoring single in the fourth.

A single by Carl Yastrzemski, hitting in his 10th straight game, a passed ball and Tony Conigliaro's single scored one Red Sox run.

The other came in the ninth when Conigliaro's infield hit drove in Mike Andrews, who doubled.

Jackson Sparks 2-1 KC Victory Over California

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Reggie Jackson tripled a run across in the second inning and scored on John Donaldson's single, carrying Kansas City to a 2-1 victory over California Saturday night that snapped the Athletics' losing string at five games.

Jim Nash checked the Angels on four hits until the ninth, when rookie Tony Pierce came out of the bullpen to preserve the victory by retiring the three men he faced.

Dave Duncan singled against Angels starter Clyde Wright with one out in the second and Jackson followed with a triple to right center. Donaldson then stroked a single to center, scoring Jackson with the deciding run.

Nash, bringing his record to 8-6, and Pierce blanked the Angels after the third inning, when they scored on a walk, a sacrifice bunt and Jose Cardenal's single.

QUILLO QUEEN COPS RICH AQUEDUCT RUN

NEW YORK (AP) — Quillo Queen, who set Martin Anderson back $92,000 as a yearling, broke Furl Sail's spell on the 3-year-old filly division Saturday with an emphatic victory in the $131,750 Coaching Club American Oaks at Aqueduct.

Furl Sail, who had won the Acorn and Mother Goose en route to eight victories, six of them in stakes, in 10 starts this year, wound up a mighty tired fourth as Quillo Queen hit the end of the 1¼ miles seven lengths in front.

Second place went to the King's Ranch's Muse, with her 86-year-old trainer, Max Hirsch, watching the race on television from a hospital bed where he recently was confined with a mild heart attack.

Another ½ lengths back came Pepperwood from the Meadow Stables. It was another 7½ lengths back to Furl Sail.

Mickey Knight, Michigan State sophomore pitcher, set a school record by appearing in 18 games this spring. The old mark was 17 games, held by Robin Roberts and Fred Dever.

Cisne And Grant Both Entered In Western Junior

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Ross Elder of Tulsa, Okla., who won the Western Junior Golf Championship Indiana University a year ago, will defend it against a field of 205 challengers at Purdue north course.

The 31 survivors of qualifying rounds Tuesday and Wednesday will join Elder in match play starting Thursday. The championship match is scheduled for Saturday morning.

Jim Cisne and Fred Grant of Jacksonville are entered in the meet. Cisne, a spring graduate of Jacksonville High school, is tied for 25th in the state amateur meet this past week.

Grant, a senior-to-be at JHS, failed to make the cut in the state amateur.

Steve Cisco of Evanston, Ill., the 1966 runnerup, and 11 others of last year's qualifiers will be back.

Quarter-finalists from 1966 returning include Bob Barbarossa of St. Cloud, Minn., Gary Haden of Phoenix, Ariz., and Fred Biggs of South Bend, Ind.

Only three players have ever defended the championship successfully, the last being Dean Lind in 1950. John Richard of Ann Arbor, Mich., the 1965 winner, was ousted in the first round last year by Ron Essense of Champaign, Ill.

The Western Junior accepts contenders through the age of 19.

SHAWNEE ON DELAWARE
PA. (AP) — The University of Colorado's Hale Irwin, a football star with a touch for golf, won the 70th annual NCAA golf championship Saturday by two strokes although he soared to a six-over par 79 on the final 18 holes, his worst round of the 72-hole tournament.

The 22-year-old Irwin lost the magic putting touch which enabled him to post a seven-under par 65 in the third round Friday, but his five-stroke lead was enough to stand off Georgia Tech's Bunky Henry, San Jose State's Ross Randall and the University of Arizona's Robert Drue Johnson, who wound up in a three-way tie for second place.

Irwin's final round 79 gave him 72-hole total of 23 under par back after surgery in April, 1966, against 288 for the second place trio.

Red Sox Deal Bennett To Mets

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox sold veteran southpaw pitcher Dennis Bennett to the New York Mets Saturday night for an undisclosed amount of cash and a minor league outfielder.

Bennett, obtained from the Philadelphia Phillies in a trade for Dick Stuart after the 1964 season was handicapped by a shoulder ailment, but bounced him 72-hole total of 23 under par back after surgery in April, 1966, against 288 for the second place trio.

Mets Sweep Pair On 9-1, 5-3 Edges

ATLANTA (AP) — Tommy Davis ignited a three-run rally in the eighth inning with a lead-off homer Saturday night, propelling the New York Mets to a 5-3 conquest of Atlanta and a sweep of their day-night doubleheader.

The Mets won the afternoon game 9-1 behind the five-hit pitching of rookie Tom Seaver and a 17-hit attack, biggest New York outburst of the season.

In the eighth inning of the nightcap Davis tied the score 3-3 with his second homer of the day and 10th of the year. The bases-empty shot gave him 500 runs batted in for his career.

Pinch hitter Bob Johnson then singled in the go-ahead run after Ron Swoboda's double and Jerry Grote scored on Bud Harrelson's single to cap the rally.

Seaver boosted his record to 6-4 in the opener, shutting out the Braves in the last eight innings after yielding a solo homer to Tito Francona in the first.

The Mets scored four unearned runs in a five-run outburst in the third inning after a throwing error by third baseman Cleto Boyer opened the gates.

No Rabbit Needed By Amazing Ryun

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Jim Ryun, the exciting and wonderful young man from Kansas, doesn't need a "rabbit" to help him break a world record in the mile run.

The handsome sophomore has his own built-in "rabbit," Jim Ryun.

JIM RYUN

So it was Saturday that the 20-year-old KU athlete owns a new record of 3:51.1, erasing the 3:51.3 which has been owned for a year by the same James Ryun.

Ryun posted the new mark Friday night in the finals of National AAU Track and Field Championships before 1,300 fans.

including his proud parents from Wichita, Kan., in Memorial Stadium. The rangy Jayhawk did it all by himself. He set the pace from the first stride to the last. Six of Ryun's 10 immediate pursuers beat the well battered 4-minute mile. They ranged from veteran Jim Grelle of Portland, Ore., second in 3:56.1, to Martin Liquori, the 17-year-old high school kid from Essex, N.J., seventh in 3:59.8.

The world pole vault record was also revised. Paul Wilson, University of Southern California sophomore, cleared 17-8, which bettered by one inch the 17-7 set two weeks ago in San Diego, Calif., by Bob Seagren, also 20 and a soph at USC.

Seagren missed at 17-8. And Wilson, who two years ago as a prep star in Downey, Calif., set a high school mark of 16-6 3/4, tried, failed but almost hit the so-called mythical 18-foot barrier.

Officially, the miss was at 18-1, a height never before even attempted. Earlier, Tommie Smith of San Jose State won the 220 in 20.4, defeating among others Jimmy Hines of Texas Southern, also 20.4.

Heavies Still Regard Clay As Their Champion

NEW YORK — (NEA) — While boxing commissions and politicians argue about the best way to determine who the next heavyweight champion will be, there's general agreement among the fighters who desire that title that Cassius (Muhammad Ali) Clay still deserves the right to call himself "the greatest."

Everybody who can make the weight has eyes for the title, including Canadian champion George Chuvalo, who went the distance with Clay last year, and former Olympic champ Joe Frazier, who has yet to lose as a pro, but whose victims include a bunch of guys named Charley Polite, Abe Davis and Al Jones.

Chuvalo and Frazier are booked for a 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden July 19 in a fight that's carefully being billed as having nothing to do with the championship, while eight guys, including former champ Floyd Patterson, are supposed to take part in a tournament sanctioned by the World Boxing Association that is supposed to produce the next heavyweight king.

Patterson, confident of regaining the title he lost to Sonny Liston and failed to wrest from Clay, says he will "never be satisfied until I prove I can beat Clay. I have to find a way to fight him again, even if it's in an alley."

All of which is Floyd's way of saying what Frazier breaks down to four words:

"Clay is still champ."

"Nobody," continues Joe, "ever beat him in the ring."

Chuvalo agrees. "I still regard him as champion," says George, "and so does California and several other states. But with Clay out of the picture, it's every man for himself."

Buster Mathis, the 240-pound free thinker who is pursuing a course of independent action that he hopes will lead to the championship, goes along with the assessment as does virtually everybody connected with the business.

"They say those things," says Angelo Dundee, "because they're professionals and they admire and respect professionalism in boxing."

Dundee, who did so much to develop Clay, is grooming Jimmy Ellis for the top spot in the heavyweight division now and he owns unique qualifications to judge the current scramble for the crown.

McCarver, Maris Apparently Not Seriously Hurt

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals catcher Tim McCarver, hit by a tip foul in the third inning of Saturday's game with the Philadelphia Phillies, and slugger Roger Maris, hit by a pitched ball in the same inning, apparently were not seriously injured, a club spokesman said.

McCarver suffered a broken nail on the right index finger, and it was feared the base of the finger might have been fractured. Maris was hit on the right elbow by a Larry Jackson pitch.

However, wet X-ray prints made at City Hospital indicated no fractures. The films were to be taken to Dr. I. C. Middleton, the team physician, for detailed study.

Olympics there in '76. His plan is no more far-fetched than Alex Cushing's scheme a decade ago which committed California and the United States to host the 1960 Winter Olympics in Cushing's Squaw Valley play yard.

Bangert is up on his history. "The world," he says, "needs more Cushings."

By implication, it needs more Bill Bangerts.

Jerry Kosman, 23, regarded as a future Met pitcher, won his first decision of the season with a 2-1 victory over Buffalo on tee members to Champ in '71 May 14. He hurls for the International League.

"Any fighter you talk to," says Angelo, "is going to tell you that the champ is the best. He beat everybody that they threw at him and that's the way you judge a champion."

While Dundee rates Clay as something special, he has high praise for the tournament in the works where, as he says, "The best of the rest will fight it out and the top man will emerge. The tournament will create a lot of activity and that will be good for boxing. It's wonderful to be able to give the people what they want, which is plenty of action."

"Sure, the man who wins the tournament won't be as good as the champ," concedes Dundee, "but he'll be the best on an interim basis."

So, months from now, when somebody's hand is finally raised in victory and the ring announcer says, "The winner and new heavyweight champion," the boxing commissions and politicians will finally be satisfied.

As for the fighters, they'll know better.

Former Greene Youth To Shoot In Pan-Am Games

ROODHOUSE — A former Roodhouse boy, Steve Brooks, fifteen, received an invitation from the National Rifle Association to compete in the 1967 Pan American Games final tryouts. The same mail which brought his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Brooks of Anchorage, Alaska, congratulations on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Steve was notified that he qualified for the invitation to compete in both the smallbore rifle prone event and the smallbore rifle three-position event. Brooks was issued the invitation on the basis of the score he fired in the Pan American Games preliminary rifle team tryout held in Anchorage on May 20.

Young Brooks will journey to the site of the final Pan American tryouts at Fort Benning, Georgia. He will compete in the tryouts from June 30 through July 4. This means he is one of only 80 shooters selected to compete in the final Pan American tryouts.

In addition to his prowess as a marksman, Steve, a sophomore at East High school, was inducted into the National Honor Society. He was a member of the 1967 Alaska State High School Honor Band. A member of the East High rifle team, he won his first high school varsity athletic letter. Steve was elected vice president of the East High Rifle Club for the next school year. Steve led the Cook inlet conference and was appointed the number one choice for all conference.

He is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Martin of Roodhouse. His parents left Alaska on June 20 and will travel through Roodhouse before returning to Anchorage about the fourth of July.

The Anchorage paper carried a five-column spread including a picture of Steve.

Santana Starts Defense Monday At Wimbledon

LONDON (AP) — Manuel Santana of Spain starts the defense of his Wimbledon tennis title Monday with a pack of Australians snapping at his heels and the Americans rated as rank outsiders.

Veteran Wimbledon fans cannot remember an All-England tournament in which the seedings for the men's singles did not include an American.

But that is the position this year and it comes on top of the humiliation of the United States team by Ecuador in the Davis Cup. The American players will go to Wimbledon trying to mend a shattered reputation.

Even if stars like Cliff Richey of Dallas, Tex., go as far as the quarter-finals, it will be a major surprise.

Last year Santana was the first European to win the title for 13 years. Officials have done the obvious thing and made him No. 1 seed, but he will need all his artistry to hold off the Australian challenge.

Most critics agree the man to watch is Roy Emerson, steady 32-year-old Australian who already has won the Wimbledon twice. An ankle injury probably robbed him of a third straight success last year.

Dickinson Grabs Lead At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steady Gardner Dickinson, playing almost flawless golf, birdied two of the last three holes Saturday and charged into the third round lead of the $130,500 Cleveland Open.

The 39-year-old veteran from Los Tree Village, Fla., carded a three-under-par 67, his third straight sub-par round, and had a 54-hole total of 201. He was nine under for the distance.

Dickinson, who has more than $28,000 in winnings this season, held a two-stroke advantage over Texan Homero Blancas and a three-stroke edge over young Wayne Yates.

The 135-pound Dickinson, whose best finish this year was a tie for third in the Phoenix Open, started the round two shots back of Yates. He parred 15 holes on Aurora Country Club's 6,611-yard layout, birdied No. 6 and 16 and widened his margin by sinking an eight-foot putt on No. 18 for a final bird.

A pro for 15 years, Dickinson has taken only one bogey here in three rounds. He complained of poor driving afterwards, but said, "I'm trying not to take any foolish chances."

Blancas shot into contention with a strong 67 that put him at 203.

Yates, the Georgian who held the 36-hole lead with a brilliant 132, showed signs of the pressure by taking bogeys on three of his first four holes and another bogey on No. 8.

The lanky Atlantan rallied with birdies on Nos. 9, 10, 11 and 13 before fumbling again with bogeys on 16 and 18. His 72 gave him a 204 total.

Tied at 205 were Arnold Palmer, who had a 70 Saturday, and Lou Graham, who shot a 65 to become the third player to tie the course record.

Five strokes behind the pacesetter at 206 were Phil Rodgers, who shot 66, and Miller Barber, who posted a 68.

Snencer Risks Tourney Spot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Thad Spencer, a young boxer with high hopes, risks his spot in the proposed world heavyweight boxing eliminations by facing a veteran who's beaten him twice, once by a kayo.

Spencer, 195-pound, 24-year-old San Franciscan, meets Amos "Big Train" Lincoln, 206, of Portland, Ore., at the Cow Palace Monday night. Lincoln kayoed Thad in nine at Santa Monica, Calif. in December, 1964, and outpointed him in 10 at Las Vegas, Nev., in November, 1965.

Spencer has won 30 fights, 13 by kayo; lost 5, two by kayo. Lincoln's record is 35-5 with three draws. He's won 21 by a knockout and has been knocked out once.

He starts off Monday by playing Charlie Pasarell of San-turce, Puerto Rico, the fourth raking American.

If Santana wins that one he could next come up against Bob Hewitt, the big Australian who is now leading South Africa in a menacing bid for the Davis Cup.

McGarvey Quits Jerseyville Job As Head Coach

JERSEYVILLE — Paul McGarvey, physical education instructor and head football and baseball coach at the Jersey Community High school, has tendered his resignation to the Board of Education of Community unit District Number 100, Jersey and Greene Counties.

McGarvey has been a member of the Jersey Community High school faculty for the past nine years. He has accepted a position as physical education instructor and assistant football coach at Centennial High school in Champaign. He expects to move his family to Champaign about the middle of August.

When McGarvey joined the local faculty nine years ago, he was physical education instructor, assistant football coach to Joseph Jurkanin and head baseball coach. In 1956, he was put on the basketball staff.

Before coming to Jerseyville, he was at Westfield High school. McGarvey has been director of recreation in Jerseyville the past seven years in addition to his school work. He developed programs during the work for people of all ages. He is also resigning this post.

In addition to his school work, he has been active in civic and community affairs. He is a member of the Jerseyville Lions Club; is on the directorate of the Jersey Association for Retarded Children, and has held various offices in the Jersey County Education Association. He has also been an active member of the First Assembly of God Church.

Downing Pitches Yanks To 3-1 Win Over Detroit

NEW YORK (AP) — Left-hander Al Downing hurled a six-hitter and stroked one of three New York home runs that carried the Yankees to a 3-1 victory over Detroit Friday night.

Downing, who struck out five, hammered his second career homer off Tiger loser Denny McLain in the third inning.

McLain, 8-8, also yielded bases empty shots to Steve Whitaker in the second inning and Tom Tresh in the fourth. Whitaker's homer was his sixth and Tresh's his seventh.

Downing, who ran his record to 8-4, was touched for Detroit's only run in the sixth inning when pinch hitter Dick Tracewski singled, and came around on hits by Norm Cash and Al Kaline. Downing escaped the jam by getting Willie Horton on a pop fly.

'Buck' McPhail Resigns Post

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Coleman "Buck" McPhail, coach of fullbacks and linebackers at the University of Illinois, resigned Friday to accept a business position in Florida.

McPhail, 38, had been an assistant to recently resigned head football coach Pete Elliott since 1957 when Elliott coached the University of California.

McPhail won All America honors in his senior year at Oklahoma as a fullback. He played one season with the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League. He came to Illinois in 1960 when Elliott was appointed head football coach.

McPhail said he will join the Bromo Cedin Co. in Fort Lauderdale as secretary and general manager. The firm manufactures seltzer and soft drinks.

Pony-Colt League

Both the Pony and Colt League games scheduled for Friday evening at Nichols Park were forfeited. Lucky Boy forfeited to Wareco and Jaycees forfeited to Kiwanis, both forfeits due to a team having only eight players.

Don Heffner, Billy Herman, Bob Lemon and Mike Roarke are coaching for Manager Bill Riecy of the California Angels.

CHICAGO (AP) — Lee Thomas delivered a pinch single in the bottom of the ninth inning that lifted the Chicago Cubs to a 9-8 victory over Houston Friday.

Ted Savage walked with one out and reached second on a passed ball before Thomas, swinging for winning pitcher Chuck Hartenstein, lined Dave Eilers' first pitch for the winning hit.

The Cubs tied the game with two runs in the bottom of the eighth on singles by Don Kessinger, Paul Popovich and Billy Williams and a sacrifice fly by Ron Santo after Jimmy Wynn's two-out, two-run single had broken a 6-6 tie for Houston in the top half.

Earlier, Wynn had smashed a two-run homer, his 18th of the year and 11th in the month of June, highlighting a four-homer Astro salvo. Julio Gotay, Jim Landis and Rusty Staub had the others.

Casanova Homer Allows Senators To Nip Orioles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Casanova clouted a three-run homer with two out in the fourth inning, giving right-hander Phil Ortega and the Washington Senators a 3-2 victory over Baltimore Friday night.

Steve Barber retired the first 11 Washington batters, but with two out in the fourth, Frank Howard and Cap Peterson singled. Casanova followed with his fifth homer.

They were the only hits of Barber, who left for a pinch hitter after five innings.

Ortega had a four-hit shutout for seven innings but needed help in the eighth from Dave Baldwin after a leadoff double by Dave Johnson and his first walk, to Andy Etchebarren.

Pinch hitter Vic Rozonovsky forced Etchebarren and Johnson scored on Luis Aparicio's sacrifice fly. Paul Blair beat out a bunt single and Curt Blefary singled scoring Rozonovsky, but Frank Robinson hit into a force, ending the rally.

JAYCEE JUNIOR Golf Tournament winners pose after final action Friday afternoon at Nichols Park. Barry Bringman won the senior boys title on the first hole of a sudden death playoff with Fred Grant. Both fired 139's. Bringman will now represent the local Jaycees unit in the state tournament in Buffalo Springs July 18-20. Jim Dowland was third with a 144. Gary Hutchison won the intermediate boys, while Pat McGinnis came in second and Tom Doyle and Tom Duerwer tied for third. Bill Kline won the 10-12 division crown, followed by Chris Cisne and Pat Bonjean. Standing, l-r, are Park pro Bill Lynn, Barry Bringman, Fred Grant and Jaycees representative Bob Morris. Kneeling are Gary Hutchison, Pat McGinnis, Chris Cisne and Bill Kline.

Ryun Breaks Own World Mile Mark

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — The first seven finishers in the field of 10 bettered 4 minutes in the spectacular race. Jim Ryun broke his own world mile record Friday night with a time of 3:51.1 at the AAU Track and Field Championships.

Ryun held the old record of 3:51.3, which he set at Berkeley, Calif., last year.

Ryun jumped into an immediate lead and held the pace throughout the four laps.

The phenomenal Kansas sophomore went into the final lap with a lead of some 25 yards and ran the final 440 in 53.5.

Veteran Jim Grelle of Portland, Ore., with his usual late charge, was second in 3:56.1.

The unscoring seventh place went to the brilliant high school runner from Essex, N.J., Martin Liquori, who was timed at 3:59.8.

Ryun had made no promises for a record run prior to going into action. But the moment he took off, the crowd sensed it was in for a rare evening.

Dave Wilborn, Oregon, was third in 3:56.2; fourth went to Tom Von Ruden, Long Beach, Calif., 49er Track Club, 3:56.9; and trailing just behind were Roscoe Divine, Oregon, 3:57.2, and Sam Bair, Kent State, sixth, 3:58.7.

Ryun, all smiles, said it was a good track to run on, but he attributed the big run to "my good condition."

He said he plans to run next in the U.S.-British Commonwealth meet at Los Angeles July 8-9.

Veteran Ron Laird of the New York Athletic Club launched the evening by setting an AAU record in the 2-mile walk of 13:41.4. It bettered Ron Zinn's time of 13:48.6 set in 1964.

Randy Matson, Texas A&M, won the shot put at 66-11 for the second straight year, breaking his own meet record of 64-11. Neal Steinhauer, Oregon, was second at 65-3¾.

Charges Against Allen Dropped

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A felony narcotics charge against UCLA basketball star Lucius Allen was dropped Friday following a closed hearing in Los Angeles Municipal Court.

Allen had been arrested May 23 when police, checking his licenseless car in front of his house, found four marijuana cigarettes and other marijuana debris in the auto. Allen had pleaded innocent.

Judge Vaino Spencer dismissed the charge, ruling that Allen had not been properly advised of his constitutional rights. The woman judge also ruled that there was no evidence the 19-year-old student had knowledge of marijuana found in his car.

WILLIE MAYS became famous while running out from under his hat, but Orlando Cepeda of the St. Louis Cardinals has found the answer to the problem of how to make the catch and hang on to your headgear at the same time.

Jamieson Cops Title, Cisne 25th

EAST MOLINE, Ill. (AP) — Jim Jamieson, 24, a corporal on leave from Fort Polk, La., fired an eagle three on the 69th hole Friday to capture the Illinois State Men's Amateur Golf Championship.

Jamieson, playing on his home course — the 6,655-yard, par 37-36-73 Short Hill Country Club — shot a 75-71-146 over the final 36 holes of the 72-hole tournament for a total of 285, defeating Dave Huske of Elgin by four shots.

Huske had closing rounds of 72-75 for 289 to finish one stroke ahead of Bob Zender of Chicago, who closed with 74-76 and 290.

Jamieson started the final 18 holes Friday afternoon in a four-way tie for the lead with Huske, Zender and Ray Farro of Ottawa. All had 54-hole totals of 214.

Farro shot himself out of contention on the front nine and finished with a 294 total in fifth place, one shot behind George Victor, the first round leader from Golf, who ended with 293.

Zender ran into trouble when he double bogeyed No. 14 while Jamieson and Huske, playing together, were even as Jamieson scored a birdie on No. 11.

Jamieson broke the tie by one stroke with a par on No. 14 as Huske three putted for a bogey.

Jamieson then iced the championship with his eagle on the 495-yard No. 15. He followed his long drive with a five iron to the green and dropped a 15-foot putt.

Jamieson's morning round of 75 Friday was his only over-par effort in the tournament.

STILL RECOGNIZE CLAY

ROME (AP) — The European Boxing Union supports the stand of the British Boxing Board of Control in still recognizing Cassius Clay as heavyweight champion.

"The EBU will continue to recognize Clay as champion until his case is finally settled," said Piero Pini, secretary general of the EBU Friday.

Clay is appealing a conviction for refusing induction into the military service.

OWELL SIGNS PACT

BOSTON (AP) — Bailey Howell, star forward of the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball League, signed his 1967-68 contract with the former NBA champions Friday.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Roger Maris' leadoff homer in the eighth inning propelled St. Louis to a 3-2 victory over Philadelphia Friday night, extending the Cardinals' winning streak to six games.

Maris' blast over the right field fence — the fifth hit off right-hander Rick Wise, gave rookie Dick Hughes his seventh triumph in nine decisions. Hughes allowed only four hits, including successive homers by Rich Allen and John Callison in the first inning.

The Cardinals bounced back to tie the score in the second. Ma' Maxwell singling one run across, and the other scoring as Lou Brock bounced out with the bases loaded.

Prototype Cars To Be Limited To Three Liters

PARIS (AP) — Prototype sports cars racing for the manufacturers' championship next year will be limited to motor sizes of three liters, according to a decision announced Friday.

The International Sporting Commission, which sets the rules for the manufacturers' competition, made the decision at a closed meeting here last June 3, just two days after a seven-liter Ford prototype, driven by Americans A. J. Foyt and Dan Gurney, won the 24-hour Le Mans race.

A spokesman for the International Automobile Federation, the sporting commission's parent group, said the decision had been under consideration since last year, when seven-liter Fords finished 1-2-3 at Le Mans.

The spokesman said the five-litre commission made up its mind when it learned that the French government was considering setting a motor-size limit in the Le Mans race.

Concerned with the speeds realized by the Fords over 214 miles per hour on the long Mulanne straightaway and 4-7-liter Ferrari prototypes 198.8 m.p.h. on the same stretch, the government was thinking about setting a two-liter maximum, the spokesman said.

"To head off government regulation, we decided to regulate ourselves," he said.

Representatives from all five countries—France, Germany, Italy, Great Britain and the United States—all agreed to the new rules, he said.

The decision affects all the races counting for the manufacturers' championship—including Le Mans, Daytona Beach, Sebring, Targa Floria and Nurburgring.

Hardest hit will be Texans Jim Hall and Hap Sharp, builders of the seven-liter Chaparral, a prototype with an automatic transmission and a movable air stabilizing wing fixed above the rear of their cars.

Atlanta Pounds New York 12-4 For 4th In Row

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Braves hopped on Bob Shaw for five runs in the first two innings and coasted to an 12-4 victory over the New York Mets Friday night.

Mack Jones drove in three runs with a double and two singles as the Braves unleashed a 13-hit attack against four New York pitchers.

Felipe Alou had three hits and scored twice as Atlanta won its fourth straight game.

Cleon Jones drove in three runs for New York and gave the Mets a brief lead with a first-inning homer.

Little League

David Scott's bases-loaded double in the top of the seventh inning broke a 10-10 deadlock and lifted the league-leading Orioles to a 12-10 victory over the Tigers, in Little League action Friday evening. The Braves-Dodgers game was not reported.

The Tigers had rallied from a 10-2 deficit to send the game into the extra frame before the Orioles picked up their eighth victory in nine starts.

Chris Yording paced the winners' 11-hit attack with four hits in five at bats.

Mildenberger Signs To Meet Oscar Bonavena

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Karl Mildenberger, the European heavyweight champion from Germany, signed Friday to meet Argentina's Oscar Bonavena in September at a site and date to be determined.

Mildenberger's manager, Wolfgang Mueller, said the fight will be part of the elimination tournament to determine a successor to Cassius Clay in the areas where Clay no longer is recognized as heavyweight champion.

Mildenberger is ranked No. 1 by the World Boxing Association, which stippled Clay of recognition for his refusal to enter military service after he had been drafted. He also is ranked the No. 1 contender by Ring magazine, which still recognizes Clay as champion.

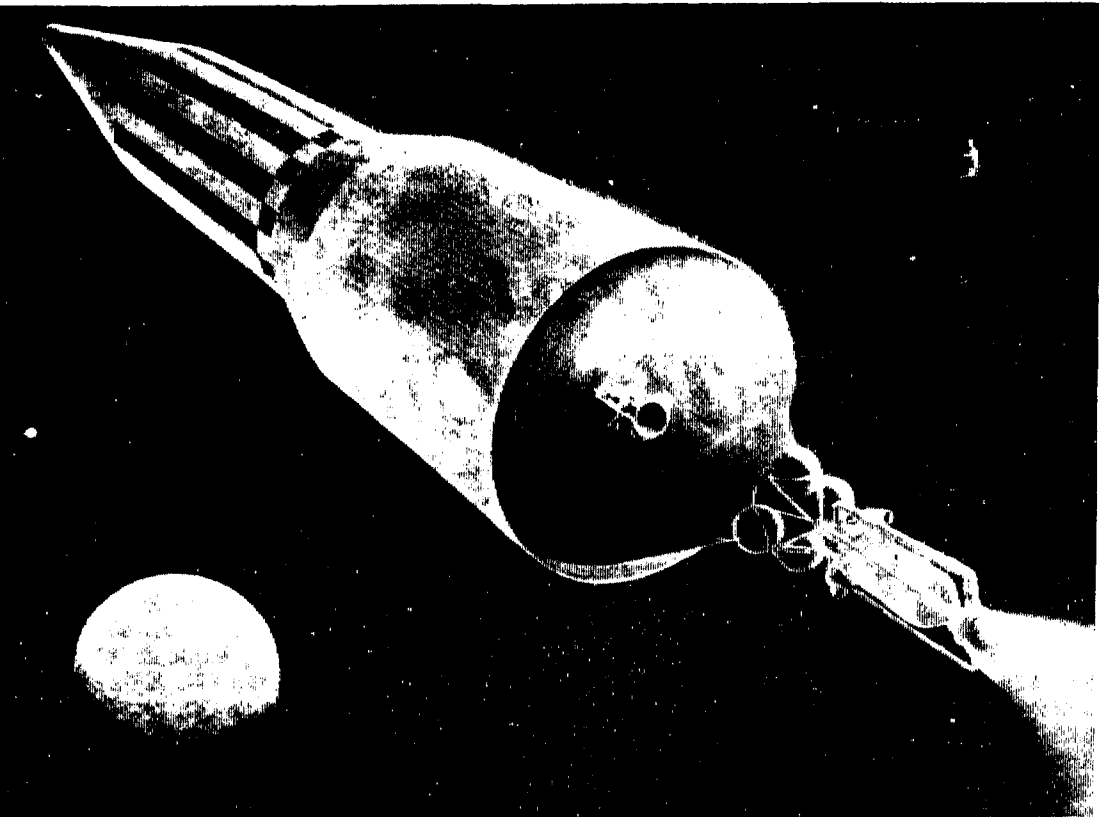

Bonavena is ranked third by the WBA and seventh by Ring. It was the second important heavyweight bout to be announced

ROVER DOES TRICKS IN SPACE

By Walter B. Hendrickson, Jr.

As huge as the Saturn V rocket is it is not big enough for some space missions, such as probes to the planets beyond Mars and manned interplanetary flights. To perform these missions nuclear upper stage must be added to the Saturn V; like the one shown in the picture above.

This stage is the NERVA (Nuclear Engine Rocket Vehicle Applications) being developed jointly by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) and Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) as part of Project Rover.

With a nuclear upper stage the payload of the Saturn V could be increased 30 to 100% depending on the mission. These missions could range anywhere from changing course on the way into space to put a satellite into polar orbit from Cape Kennedy to launching a manned Mars fly-by. Both missions are beyond the capability of present-day chemically fueled rockets.

No specific mission has yet been assigned to the NERVA. However, the engine development requires a longer time than the mission development. Just as the engines used on the Saturn V were being developed long before the rocket itself took shape.

May Carry Men
The NERVA will fly in 1975 or '76 if the project is given a reasonable amount of money. It could be man rated, (made safe to carry astronauts) a year after that.

Eight tests of the NERVA have been run since 1964 accumulating nearly five hours of firing. The last three of these tests, beginning a little over a year ago, have been run for 30 minutes each at full power. This is the maximum time the rocket is expected to be used in actual space flight.

The first series of NERVA tests is now nearing completion. These tests used a breadboard model, using the components

SILLY ALPHABET

Editor's note: Last Sunday on this page we began 9-year-old Kathy Starnes' "Silly Alphabet." Here are some more letters. Others will follow next Sunday.

Part 2
I is for Iris
That blooms in May
It sleeps at night
And wakes in the day
Nice little iris!
J is for Jupiter
A planet in the sky
Way way up
Up so high
Bright Jupiter!
K is for kitchen
Where utensils are kept
Your mother works hard
To keep the floor swept Big kitchen!
L is for lemon
That grows on a tree
Sweet little lemon
As sweet as can be
Sweet little lemon!
M is for mat
That's stamped on all day
It gets a day off
When people are away
Poor little mat!
N is for know-it-all
Which some people don't
They try very hard
But they still don't
Silly people!
O is for Oxen
Who paws and who snorts
If you've ever seen one
You'll know they're not short
Big oxen!
P is for pickle
Which is usually green
It's eaten with food
Especially with beans
Funny pickles!

Summer Flashes

By Christine Hembrough

It's hard to believe — but really and truly vacation's here!

But, then on the other hand it seemed only a short time ago when TEEN SCENE first came out and I told you I was a sophomore. Now, I'm a junior. My, but time does fly!

Of course, all of the kids here passed. My sister is now a big fifth grader and my brother is now a junior high man—in seventh grade.

How did you do on your exams? I did real well — I was especially pleased in making an A on my A English class exam. Again, on two of the tests I missed getting a higher grade by just one point. My luck!

Well, now just what are you going to do? I plan to go to summer school, I've learned to drive so will "practice" that, and of course I will be writing plenty.

Also, I volunteered to work for the Red Cross once a week with retarded children. Around August I hope to be going on some trips.

How About You?
But, what are YOU going to do? Did you find a job? If you're too young to get a job then what are you going to do?

Are you going to sit around and watch TV and sleep all day as so many people do? There are plenty of other things to do if you'll just look around.

There are clubs and Y's to join. You could learn to cook better or to do some type of housework from your mother.

ON THE PACIFIC

The red-orange sun turned the deep blue Pacific to a yellow-orange. It turned the sky to a bright yellow with faded blue in the distance. Pink clouds were floating in the sky.

White sea gulls soared across the sky and caught fish in the calm water. A soft breeze blew across the beach, waving palm branches. A crab crawled across the beach and buried itself in the sand.

Everything was still except the noisy gulls as the sun sank below the water. The wide Pacific turned to a deep blue as darkness fell across the calm sea.

MY CATS

My cat is black with a little spot of white under her neck. Her name is Inky. She brought my sister, Julie, a snake. Inky likes to sleep all day.

My mother cat is black, too. Her name is Sweetie. She had babies on Good Friday.

You could take some type of lesson — swimming perhaps. Or you could break a habit or get a new hobby.

Read Your Own Choice
Then, there is always the library and they have lots of books, some of which will appeal to you. Maybe you could read all of the books you could find on one subject. If you'd like to be a nurse it would be fun to read lots of books on nursing. Or you could read up on a new subject or just stick to fiction.

There are plenty of games to play — like rope or jacks and box games or cards. In previous summers, lots of times my girl friend and I would go on "fads" we'd play jacks or cards all day long for a month or longer. It was lots of fun.

WHAT I LIKE ABOUT SPRING

When Spring comes, it's the time I begin to feel free. It is this feeling that makes me want to take walks through the country. Spring is the prettiest time of the year.

It is the time when the first color begins to show. The trees begin to show the vivid greens. The flowers show bright colors of beauty.

The breezes are delightful and put grace into the trees that have bloomed. With the breezes come the birds.

There are many other things I wish I could tell you that I like about Spring.

Steve Cormier
Mr. Rust's
Sixth Grade

The most important thing about Spring is that it's neither hot nor cold. Spring's just breezy and sometimes warm. I also like Spring because sometimes when I have nothing to do I can go outside and listen to the birds sing. I also like it when the trees and flowers begin to bloom. I also like to make a garden, mow the lawn, or play baseball. Another thing about Spring is that school's almost out.

Brenda Chamberlain
Mr. Rust's
Sixth Grade

I like best about Spring the warm, but not hot climate. I enjoy being outside. I play baseball.

During my vacation I go on exciting fishing trips, but I rarely catch a fish of very large size. I do catch some of fairly large size. I bought some well advertised fishing lures this year and expect to have better fishing than the past year.

When my friends are gone I go on hikes or ride my bicycle. I go swimming which I enjoy very much.

APRIL

On April Fool's Day my family went out to Dickson Mounds. We looked at some skeletons and got a gold ring with a black rock on it. We got some cold drinks, too.

The man in charge told us about the Indians.

We went to a store and bought some souvenirs.

Let's Go Birding

Number One-Hundred

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Bird watching found a little space in "Time," June 2. Some of our friends recommended the article to us before we had opened our copy. As we read it, some of our own experiences among the 8,000,000 or so bird watchers returned to us. Our readers may recall our report of our Morgan County Audubon Society spring bird census taken on the all-day rainy May 6.

On May 21 we again set out to find as many species of birds as possible. We realized that the number would be smaller for the migration was waning; but we had as a guest an old birding friend from Marathon, Florida, who had driven up to enjoy our Illinois spring birds with us.

We rashly set our goal for 100 species, all the while reveling in our foolhardy resolution.

Laughing at ourselves in the grip of such a hobby as that of bird watching or bird stalking, we repeated, "One hundred or bust!" or "We can't go home until we find 100!"

During the morning we searched some of the Springfield area—a former home of our guest—and succeeded in building up a good list of warblers and sparrows, but we were as yet far short of 100. After eating a big lunch we decided to return to our area for further exploration.

Crawling Closer
We saw our list slowly crawl closer to 100, but the sun was also sliding slowly closer to the horizon. Yes, we had resolved that we couldn't go home until we had seen a 100. What a lone-some place home would be that night.

We had seen such rarities as the Mourning Warbler, the Dunlin, and the Vesper and Lark Sparrows. Our list crept to 88. We had, as yet, failed to find our Mockingbird and our Bluebird, both common although not plentiful. Where, oh where were they?

We knew the habitat of the Mockingbird and had carefully depended upon it, also too carelessly. Then as we were hiking along a ploughed field, the last place for a Mockingbird, we stopped in our tracks aghast.

There before us dropped down upon the barren clods a long-tailed sleek gray bird displaying large white patches on its wings and tail, our Mockingbird. It mockingly looked at us as if to announce, "Bird number 99."

Seek Bluebird

Encouraged, one of our party announced that she knew where a Bluebird had never failed to build its nest, in a hole in the dead stub of a tree just across the grassy slope which we were passing. She insisted that we climb the gate separating us from the strategic place. We practically hung on the gate but feared to venture further—there were cattle grazing between us and the possible Bluebird.

Our one bird watcher, undaunted, offered to dodge the cattle and quickly check the Bluebird haunt while the rest of us wandered on slowly in search of number 100. Having hesitated for a moment, we were spared the crisis of making up our minds.

To our left and not far from the interfering gate and cattle, a Bluebird sang. In its plaintive sweet warble it said to us, "I am number 100." And now we could also go home.

Such experiences often tantalize even intellectual people to play the game of bird watching.

A VISIT TO ANDERSON - CLAYTON

When I was a Cub Scout our pack visited Anderson-Clayton. We went through the plant and saw them make margarine, shortening, and apple cider vinegar. We watched them put those things on a freight car. We then had some soda pop and went home. It was fun.

SUMMER

Every summer our family goes to Minnesota. I like this best because there is plenty of water for swimming, fishing, and other kinds of water activities. There are ten thousand lakes in Minnesota.

My mother, brother, and I are up there almost three months so I write to my friends. It is fun sending and receiving letters.

There are many things to do and see in Minnesota. Our family has a summer home up there so naturally Mom and Dad have some friends up there so they can have some fun, too. This is how I have fun in the summer.

Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council News

Unit I took the name of a fire light. The Unit leader was Mrs. Zede Crow, her Indian name was O Hanpi (meaning generous). She was assisted by Mrs. Bill Meyer whose name was Luta (stick to) and Judy Umphries who was called Tandra (love, honor and respect). The Cadette aide was Debbie Spencer, whose name was Eheti, Indian for Blue Horizons. This unit was busy making Indian headbands, painting Indian dresses, whittling totem poles and lacing totem-toms. This Brownie unit also enjoyed nature hikes, wading and learned some Girl Scout songs. They won the clean unit flag for a neat looking camping site.

Wah-Tanga, or Village of Girls that live outdoors, was Unit II's Indian name. Mrs. Donald Smith was Unit leader and she used her first name, Okla, which is Indian for Beautiful. Mrs. Hobbie Hinderliter and Mrs. C. C. Williams were the assistants. Their names were "white squaw" and "Ta Wanka" (willing to attempt anything). The aide was Bev Hewitt, O-wa, (meaning to paint or sketch). This unit of Brownies enjoyed catching fish, making Indian beads out of clay and painting dresses and headbands. These Brownies came up with some unusual centerpiece made of moss, dried weeds, toadstools and coral mushrooms.

Unit III took the name Toronto, meaning place of meeting. Mrs. Charles Quinn, or Wetomachick (your friend) was the Unit leader. Her assistants were Tanga (who live out-of-doors) better known as Mrs. William Clement and Ta-wanka (willing to attempt) or Mrs. Don Cyle. The Cadette aide was Dianne Flynn, who took the name Minnehaha. Mrs. Andrew Ridder and Gail Standley gave a demonstration of life-saving procedures from shore to water and also taught the Scouts how to row a boat. This fulfilled some of the requirements for the Water Fun Badge. On Thursday the girls hiked to Velmarosa Stables and Mrs. Jack Wise gave some pointers on showing and gentling horses. On the way over they fulfilled some requirements for the Gypsy, Foot Traveler and Observer badges. Thursday evening the Scouts did some star gazing before settling down for the overnight. Three totem poles grace the entrance of this unit. The poles stand about 3 foot high and are made from ice cream cartons, scraps of material such as spoons, paper, chicken rings, leaves and bark.

Unit IV called themselves the Minnehaha Mukkineuk, which translates, an assembly of laughing maidens. The Unit leader was Mrs. Robert Moore.

Snah, nah (meaning merry hearted). She was assisted by Mrs. Raymond Maul, To machick, (friend) and Mrs. L. H. Schuster assisted in the unit for three days. The aides were Susan Andrews and Cadette Karen Curtis. Their names were To he ti (Blue Horizons) and A mah to (to plant love). These Junior Scouts gathered roots, bark, weeds, onion skins, flowers and mulberries to make natural dyes to color their Indian dresses. They also had fun wading, boating and fishing.

The Teddy Bear patrol, comprised of pre-schoolers whose mothers are assisting at camp, was headed by Marilyn Anderson and Diane Stevenson. They caught tadpoles, did spatter painting, made necklaces and headbands.

Thursday evening seven of the Aldermen and their families visited the camp site. They were guests in the Junior units and stayed for the camp fires. On Friday the entire camp enjoyed a progressive dinner. Unit I prepared an appetizer of juice and crackers and cheese. The salad was served at Unit II. The main dish was cooked and served by Unit III and was called Pocahontas Delight, (ham, yams, pineapple and corn bread). Unit IV served a dessert of chocolate pudding and Girl Scout Cookies.

Special thanks to Mrs. Andrew Ridder and Gail Standley for their assistance with wading and boating. Sheryl Leake, Becky Patterson and Marjorie Ridder were waterfront aides while Kathy Whitton helped out in the cabin. Senior Scout Janice Reeve assisted the Camp Director, Mrs. Bette Jackson.

Chandlerville

CHANDLERVILLE — Miss Frances Finn, a 1967 graduate of Chandlerville High School, has been employed in the state archives department.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Vaughn were Mr. and Mrs. James Hayes of Jacksonville, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Vaughn and son Matthew, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crumlin of Chandlerville.

Mr. and Mrs. William Beck and family of York, Pa. and his sister, Mrs. William Cadamuro and daughter of Miami, Fla. left Saturday for their homes after a week's visit here.

Miss Margaret Ann Warner of Chicago spent several days recently with her mother, Mrs. Mildred Warner. The two then traveled by jet to Minneapolis where they spent a short vacation before returning home.

Warner, a graduate of Chandlerville High School and Monmouth College, is employed by Eastern Air Lines in Chicago.

N.Y. Stock Market Closes Off Slightly

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market virtually marked time last week as the United Nations debated the Middle East crisis. An air of caution prevailed in Wall Street as investors waited to see if a summit meeting could be arranged between President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

The heads of the two great powers got together Friday but the market closed before any word came out about their discussion.

There was little in the economic news to inspire the market. Talk of a tax increase, perhaps late in the year, again was heard. A report that major railroads are generally pessimistic about prospects for their 1967 earnings hurt rail issues. New factory orders for durable goods in May posted their sharpest gain since last September.

For the week the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials declined 7.63 to 877.37. The Associated Press 60-stock average last week dipped 1.6 to 326.2. Of 1,594 issues traded, 766 declined and 676 advanced. There were 252 new 1967 highs and 119 new lows.

Business — Market Wrapup

Week In Business

Economic Upturn Hinted In Second Half Of '67

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The attention of many businessmen, economists and government officials centered this past week on the economic outlook for the approaching second half of 1967.

Opinion was divided but the majority seemed to feel that there will be an upturn in the next six months.

Meanwhile, the Federal Communications Commission approved the $2.8 billion merger of International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and American Broadcasting Companies, Inc.

The vote was 4-3, the same as when the commission approved the combination last Dec. 21. Subsequently it held a hearing on the antitrust aspects of the merger at the request of the Justice Department.

The Justice Department said after the second approval that it would study the decision before deciding whether to appeal to the courts.

Many factors were involved in the various economic projections: inventory adjustment, capital investment, consumer spending, taxes, government spending, Vietnam and the Middle East.

Among authoritative sources making forecasts were the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York and Standard & Poor's Corp., an investment advisory firm.

Morgan Guaranty said: "The customary business indicators continue to show that high-level sluggishness remains the dominant characteristic of the evolving business situation. But performance is nevertheless consistent with the widely held view that conditions favorable to business acceleration in the second half are developing."

Standard & Poor's commented: "A modified version of the late 1965 experience — a rapidly rising economy, a fast increase in profits, an expanding money supply and rising interest rates — may well be in the making for late 1967."

Indications were that the downward adjustment of heavy inventories was continuing. Some said that it had been completed. In April, total business inventories showed the smallest increase in many months, rising by only $100 million.

Restoration of the 7 per cent business investment tax credit gave hopes of increased spending for new plant and equipment. The railroads were the first to respond with sizable orders for new cars.

Consumers were expected to step up their spending to parallel the sustained rise in disposable income. Among the beneficiaries would be producers of consumer durable goods, particularly automobiles.

After President Johnson recommended in his January budget message a 6 per cent surcharge on income taxes, effective July 1, many economists doubted it would get through Congress. Now, according to some sources, they have changed their view and expect a tax increase, possibly more than 6 per cent.

However, the time schedule has been changed. It's too late for the July 1 effective date and the administration is now talking about Oct. 1. Some congressmen think Jan. 1 would be more likely.

Whether the rate of government spending increases will continue depends mainly on whether the Vietnam war will escalate and on what transpires in the Middle East.

The Commerce Department reported this past week that new factory orders for durable goods — a key guide to future factory output — in May posted their sharpest gain since last September.

At $23.8 billion, the order inflow was up 6.6 per cent from $22.3 billion in April although it trailed the $24.3 billion in May 1966. Last September new orders jumped 7.6 per cent to a record $25.3 billion.

Sales of the country's leading chain store organization rose sharply in May over the previous month and May 1966. Sales of 29 chain stores and mail order houses rose by 7.7 per cent in May to $1,898,356,532 from $1,762,015,907 a year earlier. Revenues in April totaled $1,738,057,000.

Automobile production this past week was estimated at 177,000 passenger cars, up 3.6 per cent from 170,849 the previous week but down 5.6 per cent from 187,600 a year ago.

Steel output last week slipped to the lowest level of the year. Mills turned out 2.21 million tons of steel, down 3.1 per cent from 2,281,000 tons the previous week.

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans and most grain futures prices dropped through the bottom on the Board of Trade this week.

All wheat, corn and soybean oil futures hit new seasonal lows. Some contracts in soybeans and rye dropped to new seasonal lows.

The weather was the driving force behind price action and the outlook for record corn, wheat and soybean crops early in the week sent prices tumbling.

Prices made something of a comeback later in the week on reports the outlook may not be as promising as expected but the results were mixed.

Wheat and soybean futures closed lower than a week earlier. Oats and rye closed higher, but corn prices were mixed.

Wheat closed 1 1/4 to 2 cents a bushel lower than on June 16, July 1.55 1/2-3/4; corn was 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, July 1.32 1/2-1/4; oats 1/4 to 3/4 higher, July 70 1/2-71; rye 1 to 1 1/4 higher, July 1.20 and soybeans 1/4 to 1 1/4 lower, July 2.84 1/4-1 1/2.

The newly planted corn crop got off to a wonderful start with ample rains and generally hot weather in the Midwest. A private forecast Monday said the crop could reach a record breaking 4.50 to 4.75 billion bushels this year compared with the record 4.1 billion produced last year.

However, the rains didn't stop and reports came in during the week of flooded fields and hail damage.

The rains also were general in the Great Plains and halted harvesting of the maturing winter wheat crop in some places.

The Quaker Oats Co. issued a crop report Friday saying the downpours of rain "turned out to be devastating" in some crop growing areas. The report estimated 3 million acres of crop land have been destroyed by water with the bulk of the damage in Iowa and eastern Nebraska.

Trade sources said it may be too late to replant corn by the time some of the washed out areas dry and that soybeans may be planted instead.

There also were reports Friday of black rust damage in wheat fields in Kansas and Nebraska that could reduce the yield per acre.

After the close of trading, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman announced in Washington that federal planting allotments for the 1968 wheat crop will be reduced 13 per cent from this year.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

YOUR BIRTHDAY

By STELLA
SUNDAY, JUNE 25 — Born today, you are a person of great individuality even though your goals are much the same as those of other people — a fair amount of money, health, a happy home and family, etc. You are not one who needs recognition in order to be happy yourself, however; so long as you know that you're doing your job as best you can, you care little whether anyone else knows it. Such an attitude is admirable — but you might be wise to let your superiors know how well you do what you're given to do. You have an uncanny ability to spot trouble in the offing and for this reason trouble seldom finds you unprepared. And because you are prepared you usually have a solution well in hand by the time the storm hits and are able to get on about your business in less time than it would take most people to give whatever difficulty presents itself a name. Others call this ability luck; being attuned to nature and natural processes would be more accurate. You women born on this date are as well suited to careers outside as your male counterparts. You need only take care not to become so involved in your own personal ambition that you neglect your home and family, for in this direction lies not the satisfaction of personal wants but the ultimate thwarting of all ambition. To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, June 27

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) — An excellent day for business opportunities — especially if you happen to be in the field of clothing. Otherwise, a day for normal gains.
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — You should know success today if you are job hunting or seeking a change of position at your present place of employment. Best foot forward!
VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) — Social events can aid business matters if you know how to combine the two. Don't overlook the power of the one to influence the other.
LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) — Opportunity knocks more than once this morning. Take your time deciding which new door you will open.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) — A journey and legal matters may well join hands to make this a most interesting, exciting and beneficial day for you.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Don't be afraid to go out on a limb when asked for your opinion today. This may be the time to impress those in high positions.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) — An excellent day if you're seeking new activity on the job. You could well bring yourself to the attention of higher-ups now.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) — Profit in business of profession should be greater than expectations today. A good time for planning your next move.
PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 21) — A strong, steady pace throughout the daylight hours should bring you the success you desire by nightfall. Take it easy at eve.
ARIES (Mar. 22 - Apr. 20) — Prospects are looking up on the business side of the ledger today. Social matters may take a turn for the worse, however.
TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21) — Push employment matters this morning and you should gain yourself some needed leisure time by afternoon. A good day.
GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) — Personal interests come in for a good bit of overhauling today — but don't be disappointed if all doesn't seem to be going your way.

Conduct Rites For Otis Mason

Funeral services for Otis Mason were conducted from the Williamson Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Friday. Reverend A. W. Mathias officiating. Alvin Midendorf, who sang "Beyond The Sunset" and "The Old Rugged Cross," was accompanied by Millie Kent at the organ. Caring for the flowers were Jeanette Hadden, Roberta Houston, Olivia Verries, Lucille Mason, Jo Hansmeier and Dorothy Reid. Pallbearers were Everett Hymes, Ernest Verries, Paul Mason, Charles Reid, Farrell Hansmeier, Robert Houston and John Hadden. Burial was in Diamond Grove cemetery.

BUY SAVINGS BONDS

MISS SANDRA REDDING, 18-year-old sophomore at the University of Illinois, was crowned Miss Illinois Amvets of 1967, Friday evening from a field of eight contestants representing Amvets Posts throughout the state. Miss Redding is the daughter of Mrs. Marie R. Redding and is sponsored by Champaign Post 3. She is 5-foot 7 inches tall and weighs 120 pounds. Her measurements are 36-24-36. First runner-up was Miss Betty Layne, 20, of Spring Beach subdivision, Carey, sponsored by Carey Amvets Post 245. Second runner-up was Miss Carol Ann Flynn, 20, right, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Flynn of 1727 South Main. Miss Flynn was sponsored by Amvets Post 100 of Jacksonville. Miss Flynn also holds the title of Miss Morgan County Fair. The contest was held at the Amvets Post Home in Jacksonville as part of the 22nd annual Amvets state convention scheduled to conclude Sunday afternoon.

CHANDLERVILLE MAN RECEIVES MASTERS DEGREE

CHANDLERVILLE — William Edmund Neff, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Neff of Chandlerville, received his masters degree in science during commencement exercises at the University of Illinois June 17. A graduate of Chandlerville High School, he received his bachelors degree from Illinois College in 1965. While at I.C., he was awarded the Rammelkamp scholarship for academic excellence. He has accepted a position with the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Chandlerville Locals Mr. and Mrs. Edward Siltman and family of Chadwick arrived Wednesday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Siltman and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cook Sr. Mr. and Mrs. Brian Telander have moved to Canton where he will be employed as a member of the junior college faculty. They had taught at Chandlerville for four years. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pratt joined Mr. and Mrs. James Brown of Bloomington in attending the wedding of Miss Stella Edwards and Charles Schroeder at the Little Brown Church In The Vale, near Nashville, Ia. Miss Edwards was a home economics teacher at Chandlerville during the 1966-66 school term. Richard McDonald and son of Marshalltown, Ia. were Monday visitors of Miss Ruth Leeper and Edison Leeper. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Warden Jr. and daughter, Beth Ann. of Virginia were Wednesday visitors of her aunts, Mrs. Jesse Kern and Miss Stella Kern.

Freesen Gets Contract Award For Westgate

Freesen Brothers and Illinois Valley Asphalt Company of Bluffs received the contract for storm sewer and paving improvements for the Westgate subdivision on their bid of $338,584.05. The firm was low bidder for the special assessment project. Members of the Board of Local Improvements met at city hall at 4:30 p.m. Friday for the purpose of awarding the contract. The board awarded the contract by unanimous vote. The bid was $13,525 over the engineer's estimate, however the assessments spread will remain, as is, and the city will request additional funds from motor fuel taxes to make up the difference. Rejection of the bids would have caused further delays and costs on the project according to members of the board. Mayor Byron Holkenbrink and Aldermen Jimmie Fernandes and Bill Yording are the three members of the board. A spokesman for Freesen said work would start about July 20 and completion may be realized during the current construction season.

CITED AFTER MISHAP ON DUNLAP FRIDAY

One driver was ticketed and two vehicles received major damage in a two-car accident in front of 215 Dunlap at 3:07 p.m. Friday. An auto driven by Gus A. Bennett of 701 South West was backing from a parking meter when it struck a vehicle driven by Dorothy M. Scott of 760 South West. Bennett was issued a ticket for backing limitations. Both cars were damaged considerably but left the scene under their own power.

Jack Glisson Says "WE'LL LEASE YOU ANY '67 FORD FOR LOW MONTHLY RATES!"

Yes, now you can save just as the big fleets do—by leasing a new Ford instead of buying one. You don't need to be an executive or professional man — anyone with good credit is eligible. Leasing gives you a new car at regular intervals. It gives you complete tax records of car expense. It gives you cash to invest or spend (we'll buy your present car, pay you in cash!) It could cost you less each month than buying the same new car model and equipment! Want to know how we do it? Stop by. We'll gladly give you all the eye-opening facts... no obligation.

House GOP Leaders Propose Half-Cent Boost In Sales Tax

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — House Republican leaders offered a half-cent boost in the Illinois sales tax Saturday to help break a deadlock over state revenue.

Gov. Otto Kerner immediately rejected it as well as another proposal to raise tuition in state colleges and universities.

"It is my desire to help young people educate themselves, not hinder them," the governor said in rejecting the measure.

"Increasing the state sales tax and raising tuition at our universities and assuming basic responsibilities of cities constitutes a terrible imposition on tax payers who can least afford it," Kerner added.

The tax proposal was announced by Senator Ralph T. Smith of Alton. It differed drastically from recommendations made by Senate Republican leaders and a program backed by the governor.

Besides the boost in sales taxes, the House plan called for junking Kerner's ideas for broadening the service occupation tax as the key revenue raiser in his two-year budget.

Kerner asked Republican and Democratic leaders to meet with him Sunday night to try to break the impasse over state revenue.

The proposed half-cent hike in the sales tax would bring in $218 million during the 1967-69 biennium. The tax is now 3 1/2 cents on the dollar.

Holy Cross Administrator Leaves July 8

Sister M. Michaelen, C.S.C., who has served as administrator of Holy Cross Hospital this past year, will be doing administrative graduate work in Saint Louis this coming year.

Sister M. Michaelen, C.S.C. Sister was appointed last August after having previously served as administrator of Saint Joseph's Hospital, South Bend, Indiana.

During Sister's term of office major projects were completed which include an intensive coronary care unit in the former delivery rooms, a pediatric section, and the remodeled area on 3rd East. Also, the third phase of the renovation of the west wing will be completed this week. In addition to major improvements in the physical plant, significant management programs and employee benefits were provided.

The employee-visitor parking lot was enlarged and resurfaced, and a coin cafeteria was provided for the convenience of the employees and the general public.

Sister Michaelen will be leaving Jacksonville on July 8 as she is a delegate to the General Chapter meeting of the Sisters of the Holy Cross. Although Sister has been at Holy Cross for a comparatively short time, she has made many contacts and valuable friends in this brief period. She served on the Advisory Board of the Big Brother-Big Sister organization, and made a valuable contribution to this project.

Sister William Mary, C.S.C., who is the newly appointed administrator, will commence her duties on August 15.

Senate GOP Starts Appropriation Cuts

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Over objections from Democrats, Illinois Senate Republicans launched Saturday their budget cutting efforts on appropriations for the fiscal period starting July 1.

Democrats complained the cuts should not be made until Gov. Otto Kerner and legislative leaders resolve differences over revenue proposals. They accused the GOP of taking a "meat ax" approach to the budgets.

First in line to be slashed was a $368,000 appropriation for the Waukegan Port District. Sen. W. Russell Arrington of Evanston GOP leader, offered an amendment to reduce the appropriation to $218,000.

After heated debate, the amendment was adopted. "You can't just take a broad whoop into the budget and do something determinative for the people of Illinois," protested Sen. Alan Dixon of Belleville, Democratic minority whip.

An ally on the issue was found in Sen. Robert Coulson of Waukegan, GOP majority whip, who said the original appropriation would "give Illinois a port opening on waterways that lead to the world."

In its abbreviated session, the Senate reversed itself and revived a bill to prohibit conscientious objectors from serving on the state police force.

Fairy Martin Of Patterson Dies Saturday

WHITE HALL — Mrs. Fairy Bernice Martin, who served as postmistress at Patterson for many years, passed away at White Hall hospital at 5:55 a.m. Saturday. Mrs. Martin, 84, had been a patient at the hospital for a month.

She was the daughter of William J. and Orlena Carriger Wilkinson and was married April 6, 1907 to George T. Martin, who died July 22, 1950.

Mrs. Martin leaves one daughter, Mrs. Frieda Sands of White Hall; two grandchildren, Mrs. Robert Fay Jr. of Alton and Mrs. E. R. Secrest of Brevard, N.C.; two great-grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Frank Krumpel of Shreveport, La. and a brother, Roy Wilkinson of Roodhouse.

One brother, Harry, preceded her in death. Mrs. Martin was a member of the First Baptist church, Winchester and the Patterson R.N.A. unit.

Funeral services will be held at the Dawdy-Wolfe Funeral Home in White Hall at 2 p.m. Tuesday with Reverend Perry Sherwin officiating. Burial will be in Pine Tree cemetery at Patterson.

The family will receive friends at the funeral home from 7-9 p.m. Monday.

Woman Struck On South Main

A 24-year-old former Hillview young woman was reported in satisfactory condition at Holy Cross hospital where she was taken after being struck by an auto in the 1200 block of South Main about 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Judith Beams of 1243 South East, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Beams of rural Hillview, was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

Investigating city police said Miss Beams ran from the east side of the street and was struck by a car driven by 54-year-old Mrs. Virginia L. Adams of 1424 South Main.

Police said Miss Beams was holding an umbrella at the time of the accident which could have obscured her vision. Mrs. Adams was driving at a slow rate of speed, according to police officers.

Need Top Candidates To Win Ogilvie Tells GOP Seminar Here

Nomination of topflight candidates for every state and local office is the essential ingredient to a 1968 Republican victory in Illinois.

Cook County Board President Richard B. Ogilvie hit hard on candidate selection in a Saturday night speech entitled, "How The Republican Party Can Win In Metropolitan Areas." Ogilvie addressed a dinner meeting which climaxed a three day seminar at Illinois college here.

The sessions were sponsored by the Republican National Committee and attended by party leaders and volunteer workers from nine Midwestern States.

"It is no longer possible for Republicans to write off Cook county and count on downstate votes to provide winning margins for statewide candidates," Ogilvie stated. "Any successful Republican candidate for state office must be able to guarantee a creditable showing in Cook county if he is to be in contention when downstate votes are counted."

"It is obvious, therefore, that the selection of party nominees is the most important step towards victory — or defeat. The candidate is the most important part of the modern day campaign."

Candidate Sells Campaign "It is the desire and the make-up of the candidate which will give a campaign prestige or devalue it of prestige. And only a prestige campaign can be a successful campaign today."

"Such a campaign calls for a detailed preparation of a 'case' for a change. This 'case' — whether it is presented against an incumbent or a non-incumbent — must constitute a simple, concise, logical and well organized presentation of the assets of the candidate as opposed to the liabilities of the opposition."

"This 'case' must be presented in every detail of the campaign — from the time the first billboard is posted until the last speech is made. It is the responsibility of the candidate and his associates to develop the proof of this 'case' for change."

"Such a campaign requires a basic strategic concept, which indicates an understanding of the impact of various issues on voters in every part of the state. The strategic concept must be implemented by activities timed to build enthusiasm to a climax of the contagion of victory."

Need Urban Pull Ogilvie emphasized the vital importance of the Cook county suburban vote to any successful Republican candidate. He noted the steady increase in the suburban vote, which he predicted, will approach 40 per cent of the total Cook county vote in 1968 and exceed 20 per cent of the total vote in the entire State of Illinois.

He warned, however, against an assumption that Republican fortunes will improve automatically as suburban population and registration increases. "Any such assumption ignores the political facts of life," Ogilvie declared. "The record offers ample proof that the suburban voter is becoming more discerning and more independent in each succeeding election. Machine politics is gasping its final breath in the world of modern communication and sophisticated voting patterns."

"The successful candidate in 1968 must understand modern methods of research. He must be able to utilize mass communications media through professional paid advertising campaigns as well as through normal news exposure."

"Scientific research has proven that it is only through the press, radio and television that the candidate can present his case with any degree of effectiveness to the millions of voters who reside either in suburban residences or in city apartments."

Ogilvie emphasized the need to attract voters from every economic level and from every ethnic and racial group. Only a candidate whose campaign can arouse enthusiasm in metropolitan areas can prove to be an asset to the state or local ticket next year he concluded.

Amvets Election Concluding Event This Afternoon Approximately 450 delegates to the 22nd annual Department of Illinois Amvets convention will cast their ballots for state commander and state president of the Amvets Auxiliary this afternoon ringing down the curtain on four event-packed days.

The elections will be held shortly after noon and installation ceremonies at the local Amvets Post Home at 3 o'clock. Saturday evening's banquet honored Retiring State Commander Robert Showalter of Crete.

Some of the top awards presented Saturday evening included: governor's trophy presented for service in four categories, Americanism, community service, child welfare and hospital work. The award was presented to Amvets Post 84 of Crete.

The Amvets Post of the Year award went to Beecher Post 67 of Beecher, Ill. The Amvets Auxiliary of the Year award was presented to Peoria Post 64.

The outstanding Amvets of the year was Eddie Joe Sperry of Post 145, Moline.

The Peter J. Kiernon award for outstanding hospital service work for veterans was presented to GI Joe Post 24 of Berwyn.

The William J. Kipp memorial award for outstanding gains in membership for the past year, the top membership trophy and the most points in the membership campaign was captured by Mt. Vernon Post 4.

Harold T. Burke, past national commander, served as master of ceremonies for the evening banquet. Robert Hiland served as chairman of the awards committee for the state organization.

HOSPITAL WILL GET BOILER IN POWERHOUSE SPRINGFIELD — Among recent funds released by Gov. Otto Kerner was $154,000 from the Public Welfare Building Fund to install an additional boiler in the powerhouse at Jacksonville State Hospital.
